Eakins wins as Liberals batter Tory standings

John Eakins had words of praise for Progressive Conservative candidate Murray Fearrey and his wife Darlene last Thursday night after the Dysart reeve made the walk from his campaign headquarters on Kent Street in Lindsay to the nearby Eakins committee rooms to concede defeat. Eakins won a fourth consecutive term at Queen's Park. For more results, see pages 3, 6 and 7.

Fearrey battled, failed to make gains

Clutching a red tee shirt bearing the words 'Four in a Row - '85' and 'Eakins, #1', Liberal incumbent John Eakins basked in the warmth of supporters and the glow of a solid victory last Thursday night at his campaign headquarters in Lindsay. Eakins held off an aggressive campaign by Progressive Conservative candidate Murray Fearrey and rode a rising tide of Liberal support to capture 51 percent of the popular vote in Victoria/Haliburton.

Fearrey, whom many people picked as a strong contender to wrestle the seat away from Eakins, garnered 11,554 votes, or 38 percent of the 30,092 ballots cast. But in the crucial poll count Fearrey was left far behind. He won only 21 of 155 polls, most of them in and around Haliburton.

NDP candidate Art Field was a distant third, receiving 3,230 votes. He failed to capture any poll.

While there was jubilation in the Eakins camp, the mood in the Fearrey headquarters grew increasingly somber as the night progressed. Televisions at both ends of his Kent Street committee rooms gave supporters the province wide picture while local poll counts were tallied on a huge white sheet. Maps showing the location of each poll were coloured blue for a PC win, and red for a Liberal victory as the numbers arrived by telephone.

Early provincial returns indicated that the PC's would have trouble holding their 72 seat strength, but it wasn't until about 8:30 p.m., a half hour after the polls closed, that the magnitude of the voters' message became apparent. The Liberals were resurgent and the PC's under Frank Miller would be hard pressed to stay in power.

There was tension among Fearrey supporters as the early returns from Lindsay polls trickled in, but no one really expected he could make much headway in the incumbent's home town. It was in the villages and hamlets to the north that the election would be won and lost.

Fearrey, wearing a blue suit with a white carnation in his lapel, betrayed very little emotion as poll after poll showed him trailing Eakins. By 8:30 the CBC computer

Hydro workers on strike

Management to handle emergency calls

By HAMISH GORDON
Management staff at Ontario Hydro in Minden, many of whom are former linemen and field workers, are carrying the workload in place of 28 Hydro employees who are out on strike in the Haliburton area.

The 28 Canadian Union of Public Employees strikers at Minden's Ontario Hydro branch have joined thousands of other office and customer service staff, forestry and line workers in a province wide strike which began Monday.

Management has imported nine instructors and office workers from as far away as the Conference and Development Centre in Orangeville and head office in Toronto to help run the local power network in Haliburton County.

Emergency calls will not be handled by the 28 striking CUPE workers. Management will respond to all calls, although response time, depending on the seriousness of a problem, could take up to three days, according to a Hydro spokesman.

When lightning struck two retirement mobile homes 15 kilometres south of Barrie on Monday night, Ontario Hydro refused to send work crews to disconnect the power. Volunteer firemen were forced instead to do the work of the strike-bound crown corporation.

"Because of the strike, crews were responding only to problems which involved a public hazard - we received a call only that the resident wanted the restoration of power," said an Ontario Hydro spokesman near Barrie.

The elderly couple whose home was hit by the lightning are recovering in hospital with undetermined injuries.

CUPE is concerned about Ontario Hydro's practice of farming out private contracts for construction, forestry and line work and maintenance of nuclear power plants to non-CUPE contractors.

Education levies outstrip budget jump

Property taxpayers in Haliburton County face a substantial increase in the education portion of their tax bills this year as a result of declining provincial grant support and rising education costs. At a meeting last Tuesday, the Haliburton Board of Education approved a 1985 budget of a little over $8.5 million, and 6.65 percent more than last year. But levies to the municipalities, which must collect education taxes on the board's behalf, are up 19.4 percent, with local taxpayers required to contribute $5.3 million to the overall budget.

While individual tax bills may be up less than 19.4 percent because of assessment increases within the municipalities, it is certain that the bulk of the levy increase will be visible as higher taxes for every local property owner.

Board trustees hoping to acquiesce to public pressure for modest increases battled complex forces in setting the 1985 budget. Business administrator Stan Baker said the main factors were a drop in provincial grants relative to inflation, declining enrolment, and the move from a surplus position in 1983 to a deficit position in 1984.

Provincial grants to the Halibur-ton County Board are up only 2.9 percent for 1985, despite repeated government assertions that support will not fall below the level of inflation.

The board also is experiencing declining enrolment in elementary schools and at Haliburton high school. Since the education ministry grant formula provides $2,396 for each elementary school student and $3,275 for each secondary school student, a drop in numbers brings less revenue to the board without a matching decrease in costs.

Every dollar the board spends beyond these amounts, with the exception of transportation and debt costs subsidized at a higher level, must come from local taxpayers. In 1985 expenditures above ministry ceilings will total an estimated $643,894.

Another factor influencing this year's levy is a change in the board's overall cash position. A 1983 surplus of $118,229 was used to reduce the 1984 levy requirement to less than five percent over the previous year. At the end of 1984, however, the board faced a deficit of $109,559, which resulted, according to a letter from Baker to municipal clerks, from declining enrolment, lower supplementary taxes and a drop in the number of non resident students attending Haliburton County schools. Despite the deficit, overall expenditures varied by less than $25,000 from those budgeted, Baker indicated.

The board has also lost revenue through KinArk's move to Durham Region, which took a number of students out of the local system. KinArk now operates a day program in Haliburton using portable classrooms installed by the board last year at a cost of $81,000, half of which is recoverable from the provincial social services ministry over the next 10 years.

Local education costs also are affected by Bill 82, which compels the board to provide special education for all students who require it. The regulations have increased staff and overall costs, the bulk of which have been passed on to local property taxpayers.

The biggest single expenditure in the board's budget is $5.3 million for day school courses. This category includes teacher salaries, supplies, textbooks and a number of other items relating to classroom education. Transportation is the second largest expense in the local school system, at an estimated $1,027,000 in 1985.

Overall, the board's discretionary expenditures amount to only about $700,000, the bulk of which falls under plant operation and maintenance.

Municipal levies established

Education levies to local municipalities will be up substantially this year as a result of the $8.5 million budget approved last Tuesday by the Haliburton County Board of Education.

Requisitions for 1985 will total $5,306,256, an increase of 19.4 percent over 1984 levies. The impact on property owners will depend on overall municipal assessment and changes in the assessment of individual properties.

Net levies to the municipalities, with 1984 levies in brackets, are as follows:

Anson, Hindon and Minden, $1,061,299 ($886,239); Bicroft - $84,848 ($71,335); Cardiff - $265,629 ($224,997); Dysart et al - $1,637,629 ($1,371,924); Glamorgan - $394,085 ($281,486); Lutterworth - $396,844 ($322,733); Monmouth - $222,899 ($187,155); Sherborne et al - $493,144 ($417,569); Snowdon - $175,242 ($147,664); Stanhope - $619,646 ($521,654).

Unionized Ontario Hydro workers in Minden joined their fellow workers across the province on strike Monday, and are now manning picket lines in front of the Minden area office on Highway 35. One takes a picture of the photographer while another catches up on some news.

Firemen battle spring blazes

By HAMISH GORDON

A simple spring cleaning job around Frederick Mawbey's cottage on the Haliburton Lodge road became Haliburton's fourth raging grass fire within three days last Thursday.

The blaze was extinguished, with only minutes to spare, by 12 Haliburton volunteer firefighters before the flames could reach a neighbouring cottage.

The grass fire, fanned by gusts of wind, spread across Mawbey's yard and consumed five hedge-row trees along Harold Ross's lot, adjacent to Mawbey's.

Shortly after Mawbey started to burn out a small drainage ditch leading away from his house, the wind picked up suddenly and flames ran toward Ross's fir trees, he said.

In a desperate attempt to fight back the flames Mawbey broke his rake and shovel. Ten foot flames on the trees threatened to leap across showed the PC's leading or elected in 53 seats, the Liberals leading or elected in 43, and the NDP with 26 seats. On the local tally board, Eakins remained ahead on every poll.

Fearrey defeated as Liberals surge

One of the biggest surprises of the night, and the result that told the tale as far as Fearrey's hopes were concerned, was phoned in from the Hyland Crest poll in Minden. It showed Eakins capturing 374 votes, Fearrey only 244, and Field 55.

By 8:35 some 20 polls were posted on the tally board, and Fearrey was trailing in every one.

The results poured in over the next 25 minutes or so, but there was no release from the sense of disappointment that grew more palpable among Fearrey supporters. Provincially the voters had turned against the Tories, and Fearrey clearly was a victim. Only in Haliburton did he gain the kind of support that he had sought in four weeks of hectic campaigning.

At 9:10, as the Haliburton polls favoured Fearrey over Eakins two to one, Art Ward, who had been manning one of the telephones and co-ordinating the posting of the results, tried to whip up some enthusiasm with shouts of "take me home, country roads", but the bubble had burst. There would be no victory party for the PC's of Victoria/Haliburton on this night.

At 9:20 p.m. Fearrey, accompanied by his wife Darlene, moved to a small platform at one end of the campaign headquarters to concede defeat.

"It could be a happier moment," he said with quiet understatement. "We got caught in a provincial sweep."

He thanked the scores of people who had worked long and hard on his campaign, and tried to ease their disappointment by his own grace. "I don't feel badly about what happened," he said. "Mr. Eakins can have his day but we'll be back another day."

All that remained was to make the two block journey to John Eakins' campaign headquarters. Accompanied by his wife, campaign chairman David Bishop and other supporters, he walked through the warm night air and into the fetid clamour of a Liberal victory.

"If I have to lose, I don't mind losing to this fellow," he said, shaking hands with Eakins. "He's an honourable gentleman."

"John's made this walk twice," Fearrey said, referring to the fact that Eakins was defeated twice before his first win in 1975. "I'm only going to make it once."

Later, Fearrey returned to his campaign headquarters for a final visit with area supporters before travelling back to Haliburton for a post election party at Wig-a-Mog Inn.

For his part, Eakins was jubilant at the prospects of another term at Queen's Park with an even stronger voice, thanks to his party's 48 seat success.

"It's a great day for Ontario," he said, "and a great day for Victoria/Haliburton."

There was tension in the Fearrey camp last Thursday night as early returns showed him trailing Liberal incumbent John Eakins. Shown watching the results as they are posted on a wall of the Lindsay committee

Group plans African aid fund raising

By HAMISH GORDON

Haliburton's African Relief Committee has finalized plans for a community fund raising effort for the thousands who are still starving in drought ridden Ethiopia.

The committee, in conjunction with the Haliburton branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, who are accepting donations, have organized three days of fund raising events between May 11 and 19.

This Saturday an African Flea Market will be held at the Royal Canadian Legion hall, which has been provided free of charge. All kinds of saleable goods are needed. A truck load of furniture, dishes and toys has already arrived from Toronto, said Martin Hofland, chairman of the committee. Hofland suggests that donated hardware goods from tools to toys would sell better at the flea market than clothes. However if there is a surplus of clothes they will be sent north to needy Inuits. The flea market will start at 9:00 a.m. and close at 3:00 p.m.

A public African Relief Night to be held on May 15 at 8 p.m. will include a performance by the Guild choir, a testimony of the conditions

Lottery supports Guild, hockey, skiing

By HAMISH GORDON

A lottery to support minor hockey and maintain ski and snowmobile trails was announced at the Lake Kashagawigamog Tourist Association's annual meeting at Deer Lodge on Sunday night.

Tickets are now on sale from the association members for $5 each for those who want to try their luck at winning a satellite dish or $2,500 for first prize and VCR equipment among just a few of the $4,000 worth of prizes.

An early bird draw will be held on August 5 and later on Labour Day weekend.

Of the $6,000 expected to be raised from the lottery, 30 percent will go to improving ski trails and 20 percent will go towards supporting minor hockey, the Guild of Fine Arts and any other charity organizations that need funding.

Art Ward said during the association dinner: "We still want to sponsor minor hockey, they were just late (in asking) last year."

Rick Elstone was successful in finding 20 association volunteers (plus their children) and three trucks to clean up the garbage strewn along the North Kashagawigamog Road. The party of volunteers will meet in Deer Lodge at 9:30 this Saturday morning.

A motion was also carried unanimously to renew the deteriorating tourist association sign on the corner of County Road 18 and County Road 1.

A canoe-thon proposed by Gord Bennett generated much enthusiasm for the end of July or August 1 weekend.

Bennett proposed that everyone who could lend a canoe should do so. He said it could become an exciting event during the summer if everyone could help find participants who would pay a $5 entry fee to race from the Ingoldsbys general store to Haliburton.

A 15-mile bicycle rally around Lake Kashagawigamog was proposed by John Teljeur of Deer Lodge and it too generated much interest among the members. Teljeur said the road around the lake would be a perfect bicycle track if the Ontario Provincial Police would help with traffic divergence and cottagers around the lake co-operated.

The proceedings were finalized with the appointment of three new members sitting on the board of directors to fully represent both sides of the lake. They are Keith Stephenson, Gord Bennett and Jean Casey.

Darlene Fearrey points to some of the disappointing poll results going up on the board at campaign headquarters in Lindsay on Thursday night.

Hospital to hold Health Day tour

Haliburton Hospital will sponsor a Canada Health Day program again this year in commemoration of Florence Nightingale's birthday. Traditionally it is held on May 12, but since that is a Sunday, the local program has been scheduled for Friday, May 10.

Theme of this year's program is 'Serving Your Health Needs'. Its purpose is to make the community more aware of health organizations in the Haliburton area, their role and services.

Grade 2 students have been invited to the hospital again this year. Hospital staff will show the youngsters what takes place when people are brought in for x-rays, emergency treatment or for admission as patients. If an ambulance is available it will also be brought to the hospital for demonstration purposes.

The public is also invited to tour the local hospital this Friday. Refreshments will be served in the board room by the Haliburton Hospital Auxilliary.

damage occur to the building. It will also be expected to carry insurance to free the board from liability in the event of injury to any person using the facility during this period.

The board gave permission for the African Relief Committee to place donation cans in the high school for a period of time during African Relief Week - May 13 to 18.

Due to lack of student demand, the following courses will not be offered at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School in the school year 1985-1986: Grade 11 Art, Grade 11 Data Processing, Grade 12 World History, Grade 11 Computer Technology, Grade 10 Single Credit Machine Shop, Grade 11 Business English, Grade 12 Accounting, Grade 11 Computer Science.

The board will continue with the KinArk Agreement as already established, subject to the approval of the Ministry of Education of a Section 16 Agreement.

A motion to give permission for the Canadian Scholarship Foundation to continue to distribute information to students and parents through the schools, regarding student scholarship trust plans, was defeated.

Bonnie-Lee Berry, chairman of the special education advisory committee, reported that she and committee member Wendy Ladurantaye attended an area meeting in Oshawa. The purpose of this meeting was to review the process that should be followed by special education advisory committees. A new handbook was distributed for use by each board.

Leonard Salvatori, chairman of the salary committee, reported that the proposals have been exchanged with both secondary and elementary panels and that negotiations are proceeding.

Cheryl Murdoch, chairman of the affirmative action committee, reported that an initial meeting has been held. It was noted that the Ministry of Education requires a board to have a policy statement regarding affirmative action for the coming year. The committee has set goals they will attempt to achieve during this year. It was decided to explore the possibility of obtaining funding for research to be completed regarding women employees.

Bonnie-Lee Berry, chairman of the children's services advisory committee, reported that the committee met on April 15 to hear the first quarterly report given by Jennifer Brand, Case Co-Ordinator. The budget for 1985/86 was also received from the Ministry of Community and Social Services - showing an increase of three percent.

The board approved that the salary of the secretary for the Children's Services Case Co-Ordinator be raised to $5.50 per hour, effective April 1, 1985.

Linda Mumford reported on a conference she had attended for trustees at which Dr. Harry Fisher, former Deputy Minister of Education, spoke concerning the interaction between trustees, directors and administrators. The conference was most helpful in assisting trustees to understand their role as members of a board of education, she said.

Bonnie-Lee Berry, chairman of the CEDSS analysis and response committee, reported that this third group to review the school system has now completed its work. The analysis and response committee has finalized recommendations for the board's consideration as an action plan.

The board approved the recommendations of the CEDSS analysis and response committee, with the following change concerning recommendation 1(d): "That the board appoint an Advisory Committee which will screen applications and prepare a 'short' list of applicants for interview by the board. The Committee would consist of the three trustees from the Analysis and Response Committee - Bonnie-Lee Berry, Julie Hunter, Leonard Salvatori; three Federation representatives; the chairman of the board; the Director of Education."

The board allotted up to $1,500 in funds to the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School stage band for a competition in Quebec, May 15, 1985.

Board sets budget

The 1985 budget also contains a $100,000 provision for a reserve fund and $18,000 for a portable classroom at Archie Stouffer elementary school in Minden.

The total 1985 budget is $8,514,607, compared with a 1984 budget of $7,925,797.

Paying up

On the surface, the link between last Thursday's election results and the size of the education levy increase to local municipalities announced by the Haliburton County Board of Education last Tuesday may seem tenuous. The province after all, doesn't decide how much money the local board will spend this year. Local trustees make that decision, and it is they who are most directly accountable to ratepayers.

Dig a little deeper into the whole matter of education funding, however, and it quickly becomes apparent that the provincial government has created the dilemma with which local boards of education must grapple. Despite repeated claims to the contrary, including recent campaign promises, provincial grants to school boards have not kept pace with inflation. This year, for example, provincial grants to the Haliburton County board are up only 2.9 percent, while inflation in the past year has been running at close to four percent. And that figure does not take into account the fact that some costs have risen much more than four percent.

The province's grant allotment also makes no provision for economies of scale. On a per pupil basis, it is less expensive to operate large schools than it is to keep small schools viable. Grants that may be sufficient to operate a system with 20,000 students will not be adequate for a system responsible for only 2,000 students. Parents want their youngsters to have equal educational opportunities, so the local board permits courses to be taught when only a few students want them. Parents also want the board to keep schools open in many of the county's hamlets despite inherent inefficiencies.

Ministry of Education bureaucrats also have a demonstrated penchant for self justification. It takes the form of new philosophies that are handed down in a steady stream of directives to local school boards. Sometimes the results are an improved education system, sometimes not, but inevitably there are costs which provincial grants do not meet. Bill 82 is a good example. It places the emphasis in education not on the majority but on the minority, those with "exceptionalities", to use the current jargon. The Bill has forced school boards to hire new teachers and offer new programs. The effect may be positive for society as a whole, but the costs are high. And local people must bear most of them through property taxation.

Finally, there is the whole matter of funding to separate schools. While the government has promised that its decision to extend funds to Grade 11 at Catholic high schools this fall and to move toward full funding in succeeding years, will not hurt the public system, few observers think that is possible. There is only so much money in provincial coffers, and when it is divided more ways, the portions are smaller.

As for local trustees, they have little real control over education costs. They don't set the price of books or fuel or maintenance. Salaries can be held down, but overall they must keep pace with provincial averages, if not in one year then in the next. There are fewer students every year, and yet educational demands become more complex.

It is a dilemma from which there may be no escape, particularly since the province appears committed to a policy of shifting the education tax burden back onto local taxpayers.

Religion depends on nature: reader

To the Editor

To The Editor:

The interesting article by Mr. R.D. Lawrence will, I hope, attract those of your readers who are eager to explore the view of nature and man inherent in the article. Naturally, the writer and yourself are in total agreement with the fundamentals expressed therein. I might take some small exception to the claim that religious philosophy is compatible with the concept of equal rights for all living species. As Suzuki points out so clearly, one of the main reasons for man's rape of the planet was the Christian-Judaic premise that God put man on earth as a dominating force

Wisdom in campaign, grace in defeat

Elation and disappointment were the dominant emotions last Thursday night as the election results poured in to Victoria/Haliburton campaign headquarters in Lindsay. For John Eakins, the night's victory was sweet. After nine years in the legislature his record had been severely tested, and voters had not found it wanting. He would return to the opposition front benches at Queen's Park among an invigorated party whose voice will be more clearly heard.

For Murray Fearrey, election night meant at least a temporary end to dreams which had been nurtured by party faithful throughout a long and exhausting campaign. While no one was unwise enough to suggest that the Dysart reeve would have an easy time in his bid to oust Eakins, many people close to the campaign believed that the margin of victory for either candidate would be 500 votes or less. It was assumed that Fearrey would do well in Haliburton County, capture many of the polls in the central part of the riding, and go head to head with Eakins in Lindsay. But it wasn't to be. The tide against the PC's was too strong, and a first time candidate from the northern end of the riding could not overcome it.

In the aftermath of the election it was clear that at least three factors, none of which could be controlled by Murray Fearrey, contributed to his defeat.

Firstly, and most importantly, there was the thorny issue of separate school funding. A legacy of William Davis, the decision to give more public funds to Catholic high schools clearly outraged voters. Yet it remained undiscussed by any of the three party leaders, who hid behind vague promises of future debate. Frustrated by these tactics, voters did the only thing they could; they registered their displeasure with the PC's, even though it was Davis, not Miller, who created the controversy.

A second factor in the election night results may have been Miller's decision not to participate in a televised debate with the other two leaders. He believed no one really cared about television debates, and he was utterly wrong. Voters felt slighted by Miller's stand, and they told him so loudly and clearly last Thursday.

The third factor that made the Fearrey campaign an uphill battle was the reputation and credibility of John Eakins. There are few politicians as universally liked and respected as John Eakins is among Victoria/Haliburton voters. Fearrey's attempts to trip up the incumbent on his record were unsuccessful. If there were flaws in Eakins' service at Queen's Park, no one believed they mattered very much.

The elation and disappointment that Eakins and Fearrey felt last Thursday were the inevitable result of a democratic process that pitted two good candidates against each other. One man won and the other lost, but the real winners were the voters of Victoria/Haliburton who heard the issues argued by two intelligent and dedicated politicians. May it always be so.

John Hogg received the Molson Award for the best veteran patrol leader at Sir Sam's ski area at Eagle Lake at the Canadian Ski Patrol Kawartha Zone banquet held at the Red Oak Inn at Peterborough on April 20. Bob Bishop Jr., the owner of Sir Sam's ski area, was awarded the Zone Appreciation Award on behalf of Sir Sam's for his years of service and co-operation and the all round help he has given to the patrol. Linda Osinchuk, local patrol nominee for rookie of the year, received an award for the local patrol.

We are now just about a week and a half away from the Victoria Day weekend. This is always the time of the year that we think of as being the beginning of a very busy summer season. It would appear, after talking with some of the local businessmen, that most of them are preparing for the upcoming summer with an optimistic view. A few people are hesitant to make any predictions and they seem to have this "let's wait and see" attitude. I guess that in the long run, when you boil it down, it would appear that things would be better if we were all positive thinkers. A friend of mine told me recently that life is just what we want to make out of it and if we are continually going around talking gloom and doom then chances are that we will always end up with a negative attitude. In my opinion, the economy seems to be on the upswing, people seem to be more optimistic about the future and therefore more money is being spent. In speaking with some of the local contractors, they tell me that in most cases they have a lot of work ahead of them. Let's face it; a great deal always depends on the weather. It will be encouraging for all of us if we get a majority of the days with warm weather and clear skies.

Lynda Brown has asked me to announce that there is a pre-marriage course available for any couples who are planning to or have just been married. It was an enjoyable evening for all present and featured a delicious buffet supper.

I would just like to remind everyone that the County of Haliburton Agency for Child Enrichment is holding their Spring Fling Dance this Saturday, May 11 at 8:00 p.m. at the Haliburton arena. The local members of the Salvation Army, backed up by other citizens of the community, were out in full force to help raise money for this most worthy cause. The Haliburton County objective has been set at $6,000 and it is to be hoped that this money can be raised before the end of this month. If you haven't already been contacted please send in your donation to the Salvation Army, Box 103, Haliburton, or you may hand it in at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce. The local group are allowed to take a minimum of 15 youths, plus a youth leader across Canada to a pre-arranged destination, to meet with a "twin group". Our twin group is in Liverpool, Nova Scotia and they are a church and youth group led by a church army officer. For the first 10 days the local group will be billeted at these youths' homes in Liverpool, and attend various pre-arranged outings together. After this, these two groups will fly back to Toronto and St. George's youths will participate as hosts and attend activities together in the Haliburton region. This is a cultural exchange designed towards sharing each region's uniqueness, to gain exposure to other cultures and lifestyles and to make new friends in the area visited. Queen's Park Report by John Eakins, M.P.P.

Davis has poor acid rain record

"I would hope the appointment of former Premier Bill Davis as a special envoy to study Acid Rain signals a renewed commitment by Ottawa - and by example, Queen's Park - to fight this most damaging form of pollution." This was the opening sentence of Liberal Leader David Peterson's statement in reaction to the announcement of Mr. Davis and Andrew Lewis as special envoys.

"Mr. Davis is a man of substantial public profile and is well known in Washington," he continued. "Along with the American appointee Andrew Lewis, he stands to give increased focus to the Acid Rain crisis."

"I have some misgivings, I must confess. Under Mr. Davis' administration, Ontario did not wage a vigorous war on Acid Rain. In fact, Ontario Hydro's acid gas emissions increased by 60 per cent between 1973 and 1984. The Ontario Government has stubbornly resisted our demands to install scrubbers on key Hydro coal-fire plants."

"There is, therefore, a continuing need to address the acid gas problem in Ontario now. The appointment of Mr. Davis must not be used by his Tory colleagues at Queen's Park to stall action which is clearly needed to ensure this province is doing all it can to reduce the damaging effects of Acid Rain on our lands, lakes and buildings."

I would like to remind you of some of the historical background to this question of Acid Rain.

Ontario Hydro's record for controlling acid gas emissions is poor. A historical review shows Hydro's emissions of sulphur dioxide and nitrogen oxides have been increasing, not decreasing. Between 1973 and 1983 they increased 37 per cent from 326 metric tons in 1973 to 515 tons in 1983. As David Peterson pointed out, emissions increased by 60 per cent between '73 and '84.

On January 12, 1981, the Ontario Hydro Board of Directors approved a long-term program to reduce acid gas emissions, the leading component of which was the "design and installation of flue gas scrubbers at two 500 megawatt coal thermal units at either the Lambton or Nanticoke generating stations."

On January 26, 1981, the Ministry of the Environment issued a regulation to reduce Hydro's acid gas emissions. The 1981 Regulation (amended in 1982) required Ontario Hydro to reduce annual emissions of Sulphur Dioxide and Nitrogen Oxide from 450,000 tonnes in 1986 to 300,000 tonnes in 1990.

It is interesting to note that Hydro officially over-estimated the 1981 acid gas emissions by 20 per cent to give the impression that the cuts would be substantial.

Report From Parliament

by Bill Scott, M.P.

$30 million approved for research

On April 16, the Minister of Health and Welfare announced the government's decision to provide additional funding to the Medical Research Council (MRC) for 1985-86.

In June 1983, the federal government approved, in principle, a five year plan submitted by the Council which included both a strategy for a renewed federal commitment to health research and measures for implementation. The government then provided funds for the first two years of the plan, $20 in 1983-84 and $30 million in 1984-85, but made no provision for the subsequent three years.

As stated above, on April 16, 1985, at the request of the Minister of Health and Welfare, the Cabinet confirmed its support of the MRC five year plan and agreed to provide an additional $30.9 million to the Council for 1985-86. This will allow the Council to maintain its activity level of the previous fiscal year and to pursue the implementation of the plan.

With these additional funds the Council will be able to support some 400 to 425 new research projects which involve employment of some 600 people in Canadian universities and affiliated teaching hospitals and research institutions. The Council will also be able to provide about 350 additional awards for training and support of research personnel in the health sciences research field.

Approval of an increase to MRC's budget at this time despite the Cabinet's avowed determination to reduce the Federal deficit confirms the priority of this government and its intention to provide adequate financial support to health research in Canada.

Great campaigns, where are jobs?

Question

Catherine Denholm

In the short time since last September's federal election there has been a shifting of priorities in most people's minds. This was apparent in Ontario last Thursday.

In September Mr. Mulroney was given his great majority to get the economy turned around. It was perceived to be the change which would put people back to work. Jobs, jobs, jobs was the fundamental cry of that campaign.

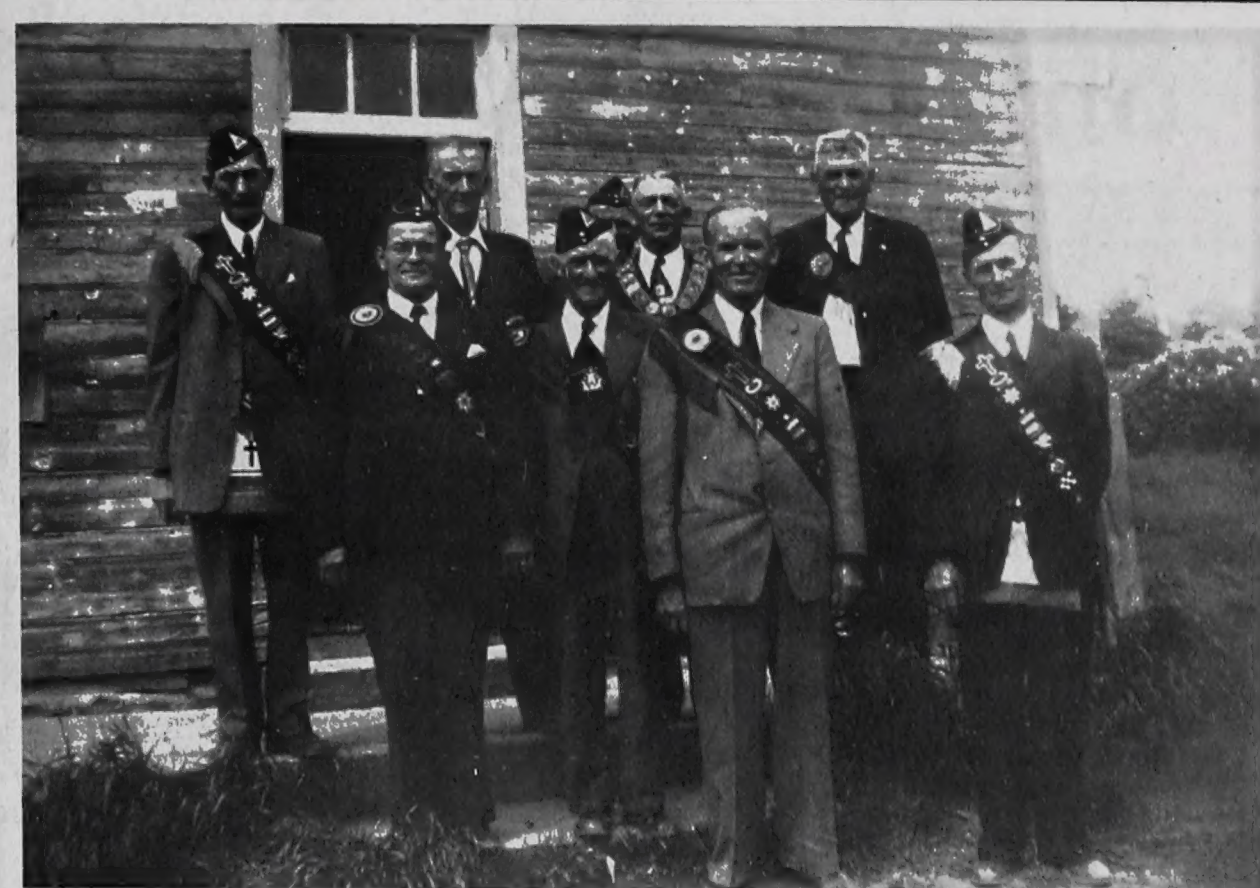

Since then there has been a growing suspicion that very few new jobs will be created by any government maneuver. Very few new jobs will be created by private enterprise. In fact it is likely that unemployment will remain at a high level for another decade or more until new industrial and technological developments are understood and established.

So the people of Ontario listened to the speeches about jobs but they voted for improved environmental controls on dangerous materials. They voted for fast action on acid rain. They voted for equal pay for work of equal value. They voted for arm's length co-operation with Ottawa and they voted with fear of American domination of trade and with fear of the placing of military weapons in space.

When May 2 was over there was an arrangement of political parties and people for Queen's Park which can be the best ever for accomplishing all of these objectives and more.

and that all other species were there for his pleasure. As a non-Christian, I still feel that this belief underlies most of the worst-case examples of unregulated exploitation by our society.

However I am puzzled by a curious ambivalence in the writer's view (as expressed privately to the writer) and, I believe, in your own, when it comes to evaluating the types of social structures that will best address the problems that plague our society.

Economics aside, I know of no right-of-centre government that has ever expressed the slightest concern with these serious problems. In our own hemisphere, Mr. Reagan and Mr. Mulroney have shown that "bigger and Better" is the only path and damn the results. The only criticism I have heard of Suzuki's marvellous program, "A Planet for the Taking" was that Suzuki was too far to the left politically. I am not sure what "left" is supposed to infer but I gather that it means that he wants something done about our run-away technological political philosophy that pours hundreds of untested chemicals into our environment each year, all in the name of progress a-la Free Enterprise. Unrestricted free enterprise has never stopped to consider the ecological damage done as its followers rape our forests, waters and soil. Yet when the obvious answer to this destructive process is put forward, it is immediately dubbed as dangerous socialist propaganda.

What countries exist today where all these environmental problems have not only been solved but are predominant platforms in the political will? Where have the forests been carefully preserved? Where has the educational system taught from grade one onwards the precepts that Mr. Lawrence so rightly advocates? Where, for example, some twenty years ago, was the problem of acid rain tackled in a practical manner so that their lakes were not allowed to die? Yet when this same procedure was proposed by the writer for Canada, the present governments felt that though feasible, the program was too expensive.

The country that best exemplifies all the precepts that Mr. Lawrence believes in so firmly, is, of course, Sweden. Yet Sweden's tremendous progress in every aspect of social development and environmental responsibility is waved aside as tainted by its "Leftist" political philosophy.

Mr. Lawrence, in conversation with the writer, has noted that the human species will either be blown up by the "bomb" or more horribly, smothered to death in its own excrement after the total breakdown of its social structures. I agree fully. But I disagree when Sweden's far-sighted examples of a possible answer are dismissed as impractical left-wing philosophies.

Thanks for article

To The Editor:

Thank you. Thank you so very much for introducing Mr. Lawrence to those readers who had previously been unaware of this truly splendid person.

Those of us who are in total agreement with the enlightened views expressed would naturally appreciate the current article and eagerly anticipate future ones. And those who had not previously given consideration to the subject may now begin to think, and see, and feel.

Mr. Lawrence has served his fellow man well, and in the continuance of so doing, takes his place among the great.

We should take pride in his choosing to live in our beautiful Haliburton area.

Making music

To The Editor:

Please don't get me wrong. I am a music booster from way back. The high school does have an excellent music programme, as does J.D. Hodgson Elementary School, but, how about a little "Feir Play" for the students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School music programme and their dedicated teacher. The bands have usually been a mixture. Also, Minden is the place where it all began. Those first kids were even bussed two nights a week during their first year of high school to Minden and picked up afterwards by their parents just so they could continue their music until the high school had instruments.

Liberals celebrate Eakins win, Peterson's gain

Fearrey and Field take the long walk

By HAMISH GORDON

John Eakins' fourth consecutive victory celebration in six provincial election campaigns since 1975 began at Liberal party headquarters in Lindsay ten minutes after the polls closed at 8:00 p.m. last Thursday night.

The first returns from Fenelon Falls Curling Club brought intermittent choruses of whooping and cheering from supporters gathered around the massive floor to ceiling score sheet on which all the ridings' polls were listed. The cash bar at the opposite end of the hall was initially ignored as all the attention was focused on the returns board.

Press agent Robert Drury, Eakins' son, Barry, and many other Liberal faithfuls moved confidently around the smoke-filled, dimly-lit hall on Cambridge Street, congratulating each other for their efforts during the 37 day campaign.

Drury introduced himself to anybody carrying a camera and note pad and greeted them warmly.

Eakins' supporters offered their comments and projected opinions of what would happen next. "He (Eakins) is going to have a landslide," one said. And "I can't understand why he (Murray Fearrey) hasn't done better in Haliburton," said another.

When Progressive Conservative candidate Murray Fearrey, watching returns at his campaign office two blocks away, won his first home town poll at Extensicare in Haliburton, Barry Eakins said graciously, "Oh, we'll let him have that one." Fearrey won the Extensicare poll by one vote. ("It was probably his own vote anyhow," someone nearby joked.)

As the returns from the first 20 polls trickled in, minutes after 8 p.m., campaigners scrutinized, analyzed and gloated over the winning margins.

Eakins held a 717 vote lead over Fearrey on the first 20 polls reported. New Democratic Party candidate, Art Field, who was ensconced only a block away from Eakins' camp, trailed the Liberal incumbent by more than 1300 votes at 8:22 p.m. But the man of the hour was still nowhere to be seen. Long before half the returns had come in at 8:30, a huge square red and white cake was already being inscribed "John Eakins MPP".

Many Liberal campaigners expressed surprise at the losses Fearrey was suffering. Only at Haliburton village polls were the challenger's results outstripping Eakins' support.

All the while, two television sets all the returns had come in. Returns from 50 polls at 8:40 gave Eakins a 1500 vote lead over Fearrey and double that over NDP candidate Art Field.

Eakins retired from the din to answer phone calls from British Columbia to Haliburton to congratulate him on his apparent success. Between calls he fielded questions from the local press. "I have had good feelings" all over the Haliburton/Victoria riding, Eakins said to the small scrum of local reporters.

Eakins felt that his margin had increased because "people appreciate the good service they have received, and" he said, party leader David Peterson was well received this time." Asked about his own at either end of the hall blared out the provincial returns that had been coming in since 8:02 p.m. The flood of returns reported by the CBC's Frazer Kelly placed PC premier Frank Miller in an early lead with eight seats, the Liberals' David Peterson held five seats and the New Democrats under Bob Rae had yet to win any seats.

Warm words for opponent

Fifteen minutes later, howls of delight from TV viewers announced that the Liberals had taken the provincial lead with 38 seats and the PCs trailed provincially for the first time with 35 seats.

Only then did the bar's lineup begin to grow amid an air of confident complacency.

"Here comes the winner," supporters roared over the din as choruses of delighted yelps and hollers greeted John Eakins' arrival 45 minutes after the polls had closed. Despite his obvious advantage, Eakins exercised caution by not making a victory speech before campaign he said, "It's been very smoothly won."

On hearing that Peterson had lost and then taken the provincial lead again Eakins said "I always predicted that Frank Miller would be short lived."

Almost an hour after the polls had closed Eakins enjoyed a comfortable lead with 11,657 votes over Fearrey's 8,979 votes and Art Field's 2,322 votes from the returns of 110 polls that had been phoned in to the Liberal camp.

Two blocks away Fearrey began to make his first walk to Liberal headquarters.

He was greeted with compassion and warmth by Eakins, who shook his hand vigorously. Fearrey then said: "I don't mind telling you that if I have to lose, I don't mind losing to this fellow. I'll also tell you that John took the walk twice," when he lost in two elections prior to 1975. "I'll only take it once."

John Eakins shares some of the happiness of his fourth election win with a close supporter on Thursday night as returns from the riding's 150 polls indicate his success over PC hopeful Murray Fearrey and NDP candidate Art Field.

Foster parents wanted: long hours, hard work, great rewards.

Being a foster parent is a tough job. It's full-time. Twenty-four hours a day. Often frustrating, and always demanding of your patience, energy and love.

Yet despite its demands, or maybe because of them, thousands of people take foster children into their homes each year.

Some are children, some are teenagers. Some have special physical or emotional needs. But all have one thing in common. They need a sense of place and security to help them through a difficult period in their lives, and to prepare them for reuniting with their families.

There's a very basic joy in sharing with a child or young person some of the richness that life has given you.

As part of a team of social workers and other professionals, you'll be helping foster children and their parents when they need help most. And helping yourself at the same time, to mature and grow as an individual.

If you'd like to learn more about becoming a foster parent, contact your local Children's Aid Society or Family and Children's Services.

It's not an easy task. Few jobs demand more of a person. But fewer still give more in return.

Thanks for supporting Easter Seals

Letters

To The Editor:

Helping more than 6,700 physically disabled children in Ontario to progress in life is the primary goal of the Easter Seal Society.

Whether this takes the form of the provision of a wheelchair, an artificial limb, a camping holiday, transportation to and from treatment centres, the benefits of research programs, or a home visit by an Easter Seal Nurse, the Society remains committed to supporting children and their families - a privilege which has been maintained since our inception in 1922.

The many services provided by The Easter Seal Society would not be possible without the generosity of individuals and businesses across the province who care about the quality of life available to children with physical handicaps. They would also be impossible if not for the continued volunteer commitment of our 235 affiliated Easter Seal Service Clubs who spearhead local fund raising campaigns, and administer Easter Seal funds on behalf of children living in their respective communities.

In Haliburton and Minden, local Easter Seal activities are co-ordinated through a joint effort by members of the Rotary Clubs of Haliburton and Minden. Throughout the years, many past and present members have sacrificed long hours and determined efforts to help children and their families. We know their exceptional record of service is one which all of the club members take pride in sharing.

Our heartfelt thanks to the communities of Haliburton and Minden for backing the thousands of young fighters served by Easter Seals through your contributions to the 1985 Easter Seal Campaign.

Sincerely yours,
Jack Wilkinson
President

The gift of sight

To The Editor:

I write as a concerned mother. My concern is not for my own natural children living here in Canada but for mankind's most unfortunate "children", the destitute blind in the developing world.

They are so very helpless. When a person goes blind over there, they say they go to "that other world". Cut off from family and friends they live a life we can't even begin to imagine.

These children (and adults) blind from cataracts can be restored to sight.

One organization that works in the developing world and that gives sight to the destitute blind from cataracts is Operation Eyesight Universal. They can restore someone's sight for only $25.

Can you imagine how grateful you would feel if you had a child, parent or friend who was blind and someone came along and gave them their sight?

You can honour your mother or grandmother and at the same time give the gift of sight and it only costs $25. This gift will cover the surgery, food, hospital stay and medicines. Just send your cheque or money order to Operation Eyesight Universal, Box 123, Stn. M, Calgary, Alta. T2P 2H6, along with your mother's name and address. They will advise your loved one of the "precious gift of sight" given in her name. She will be sent a patient identification card identifying the one who received sight in her name.

This is a truly wonderful way to honour your mother.

Sincerely,

Mrs. J.L. Brubaker

A deadly mistake

To The Editor:

In proposing the sale of wine and beer in Ontario grocery stores, Liberal Leader David Peterson is ignoring vital research conducted by the Addiction Research Foundation of Ontario.

A 1981 Addiction Research Foundation study found that such expansion of current outlets would result in increased alcohol consumption, adding between 2,650 and 14,260 more heavy drinkers to Ontario's population.

Alcohol, already our Number One public health problem, accounts for one in every 10 deaths and half of all traffic fatalities.

Can society tolerate an increase in alcohol abuse because of a poorly conceived political notion?

Sincerely,

Karl N. Burden

Firemen battle fires as spring fever strikes

Ross's driveway onto the cottage, Mawbey said. Unable to control the blaze on his own, Mawbey called the Haliburton Fire Department.

"Those guys (from the fire department) were really quick. When they got here the flames were raging as high as (Ross's bungalow)," only 20 feet from the hedge trees, Mawbey said.

Mawbey assisted firemen with a water pack to douse the flames that were also spreading around the back of his house and toward the dry tinder bush.

"I feel kind of foolish and stupid. I'm just glad it's out," Mawbey said as the Haliburton Fire Department put away their hoses.

"I should have known better, but I had that spring fever," to clean up the yard during last week's dry spell, Mawbey said.

Tom Russell, Fire Operations Manager of the Haliburton Ministry of Natural Resources, said six other grass fires in surrounding municipalities have been extinguished this season. They have all been started by people who get that sudden urge to clean up their backyards at this time of year.

The ministry strictly prohibits daytime burning between 10:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. unless permission has been specifically granted.

Chamber

Golf enthusiasts can hit the fairways any day now. All five of our local golf courses are open for business.

This is Nurses Week. Have your blood pressure checked at one of the local pharmacies, have a chat with one of these well-trained, hard working individuals, or extend some small courtesy to a nurse. They're one of society's most valuable assets. Appreciate a nurse.

Here at the Chamber office we still have regular contact with Emily Skinner. Emily is feeling quite well and looks terrific. She has asked that we extend a thank you to all the good friends of the Chamber who have sent cards and letters wishing her well.

We give big thanks to the following businesses for their donations to the building fund: Anson, Hindon and Minden; Edgewater Beach, Hospitality Inn, Curry Motors, Minden Kinsmen Club.

Hofland, who was a refugee at 11 years old during World War II in Holland, remembers the Canadian

Air Force dropping food and supplies over Holland in 1944. "My stomach was swelled up after I had chewed on wood and eaten grass for nourishment. Then the Canadians came to help us out. I know what they are suffering," in Ethiopia, he said. "Many of us collapsed with excitement when we saw that food being dropped."

As a Canadian, he says he now wants to do some giving himself.

Eakins supporters toast campaign victory

Eakins responded by saying, "I put the office close to the Tories because we don't like to see them walk too far."

Minutes later Field also made the walk over to congratulate Eakins on his victory and after a short speech Eakins replied by saying "I'm always glad to see the other fellows come."

Field responded by saying he had come over to take Eakins up on a dinner invitation to Queen's Park.

In his victory speech Eakins said "The Haliburton people are coming down tonight and we're going to make them welcome."

After thanking the efforts of Bruce Glass, his campaign manager and many others, Eakins said he would especially like to thank "Grenville Stamp of West Guilford who made many calls on our behalf. He's symbolic of many people who worked so hard," to give Eakins a victory in the 1985 provincial election.

Monmouth curlers receive trophies at awards night

The Monmouth Curling Club held its annual banquet and awards night on Saturday, May 4 at the Lloyd Watson Centre in Wilberforce. The attendance of members and guests was double that of 1984 and members say all indications point to an even better 1985-86 season.

The only awards not determined before the banquet were the Mixed League All Stars with the results being announced at the end of the dinner. Voted as the best by their peers were: Lead, Rhonda Walsh; Second, Garf Hogan; Vice, Jo-Ann Olszewski; Skip, Fred Berning.

Officers of the Monmouth Curling Club for the 1985-86 season, headed by past president Roberta Walsh, will be Don Fevreau, Roger and Judy Hogan, Dave and Debbie Nicholson, Ruth Strong, Clive Taylor, Bill Smith, Al Langmead, Jo-Ann Olszewski and Kerry Barbour.

Winners of the Mixed League "B" championship at Wilberforce Curling Club were Jo-Ann Olszewski and Chuck Lindsay (absent were Reg Schofield and Helen Stanborough).

Dixie Lee has not yet had a full practice but they will practise in Haliburton on Thursday at 7:00 p.m. Some of the speedy young high school players will be unavailable because of a track and field competition that same day in Fenelon Falls. Legion to choose slate of officers Thursday

By MABEL D. BRANNIGAN

Because of a conflicting date with the provincial elections, the next general meeting of Branch 121 of the Royal Canadian Legion will be postponed until May 9, at 8:00 p.m. Nominations, elections, and installation of officers will be conducted. It is hoped that everyone will attend to vote for the people of your choice, or to be nominated for an office. Proof of membership is mandatory for the purpose of voting.

President Bruce McKay was delighted with the response to the hockey banquet, and he extends appreciation to all those who worked in various ways.

Anthony Vellella and son, of Haliburton Marine, have donated a boat to Branch 129. Ways and means chairman Holly Sisson has tickets on sale for the boat.

Jimmy Hobson has details on golf for members which will be starting at West Guilford shortly. Cec Bailey has put forth excellent effort to provide entertainment for members. Watch the bulletin board for coming events.

Congratulations to all poster, poem, and essay winners and contestants. Comrade Helen Johnson hopes to see more participation in next year's contests.

Com. Mel Robertson of Branch 129 was re-elected zone commander at the April zone convention in Sunderland. Stan Moore of Lindsay was elected to the position of deputy zone commander. A full complement of delegates will attend the district convention in Trenton on the last weekend in April, and three delegates will attend the provincial convention in Hamilton in May. Names of the Ontario diamond jubilee lottery will be drawn at this time.

This being Diamond Jubilee year, red Darwin tulip bulbs are available at an attractive price. Orders can be placed through Sylvia Sisson.

We are grateful to the many who are donating to the CATscan fund through local banks and by direct contribution. If your organization would like to have a speaker or more information on CATscan, either chairman Jack MacDonald, 457-1021, or Mabel Brannigan, co-chairman, 489-3238, would be glad to help.

The D.V.A. representative attends at the Branch on the last Tuesday of each month. If you would like to have an appointment, call Lloyd Whittaker as early in the month as possible.

Soldier recalls campaigns on 40th VE Day

Cyril Feir holds local service record

By HAMISH GORDON

Men such as Cyril Feir of Haliburton made freedom as we know it on this 40th anniversary of Victory in Europe day, possible on May 8, 1945.

Striving for VE day, meant four and a half years of active service for Feir, who was with the first Canadian troops to set foot in Britain on Christmas day, 1939. During his overseas service Feir was to suffer some of the harshest conditions that the Second World War years could offer.

Don Johnston of the Royal Canadian Legion says Feir is the longest serving war veteran from Haliburton County. He survived the Dunkirk evacuation, the North Africa campaign, the Italian theatre of war and the Battle of Britain, which Feir says was the most frightening part of the war for him.

"I was in a building when one end of it was blown away," during an air raid in London, he says. He opened a door to get out before the rest of the building crumbled and all he saw was rubble three storeys below in the streets.

But he remembers vividly with pride, pain and a few chuckles the "five years less eight days" that he spent overseas as a signaller in a 28-man detachment of the Canadian Army.

Having built Haliburton's first electric lighting system, powered by a sawmill, and installed Haliburton County's first telephone system in 1924, Feir was considered a valuable component of the vital RADAR and communications system that was so desperately needed for defence along the east coast of Britain.

The first night he was stationed at Dover Castle as a sergeant in the early months of 1940 a German shell from the guns at Calais took the roof of the castle completely off. His only concern was that, "It was raining that night and all our radio equipment and firearms got wet and rusted up." Nevertheless Feir completed the arduous task of digging through the chalk to install "radio location towers."

His next mission was to plant radio sets for transmission in the beaches at Dunkirk with five other corporals.

All Feir saw when he got there were ditches filled with dead bodies.

During the heavy bombardment by German artillery, Feir suffered his first bout of shell shock while trying unsuccessfully to install a communications link with Naval headquarters at Dover. "I was reported missing for seven days." He was actually recuperating in a Southampton hospital during that week. Meanwhile, his wife back in Haliburton waited anxiously for news which eventually came through from the Beaver Club.

In a tattered and yellowing loose leaf note book Feir recorded the event shortly after his war ended early in 1945.

"In April 1940 the first Canadian Division sailed from Plymouth and Southampton and landed in France only to have to be evacuated within 48 hours, leaving all our equipment and vehicles. We were lucky to escape without being captured. My unit got 14 miles (inland) from the coast and it took 12 hours to get back under machine gun fire and dive bombings. I suffered a broken shoulder when the lorry I was riding in was blown clear off the road. The chap with me lost his left hand. After a tragic 12 hours we reached Brest and to the tune of machine gun fire we swam 150 yards to a destroyer standing by off shore. It took several weeks to get us equipped again," Feir's faded note book reads.

On the way to his next major campaign in the Italian theatre, Feir spent eleven days trekking across the desert with Montgomery's 8th Army at Alexandria behind Rommel's forces. The hot dusty trek with the 8th Army's First Canadian Corps of Signals ended at Algiers. In his note book Feir described Algiers as a "cosmopolitan city of vice and slave markets. Cows lived in human abodes."

Feir boarded a ship bound for Sicily, where his Signal Corps landed at Augusta a few miles south of Catania.

"We trekked for six miles ducking barrages of mortar and sniper fire" from the Italian guerrilla troops who were not aware that Italy had capitulated and joined the Allies, Feir said.

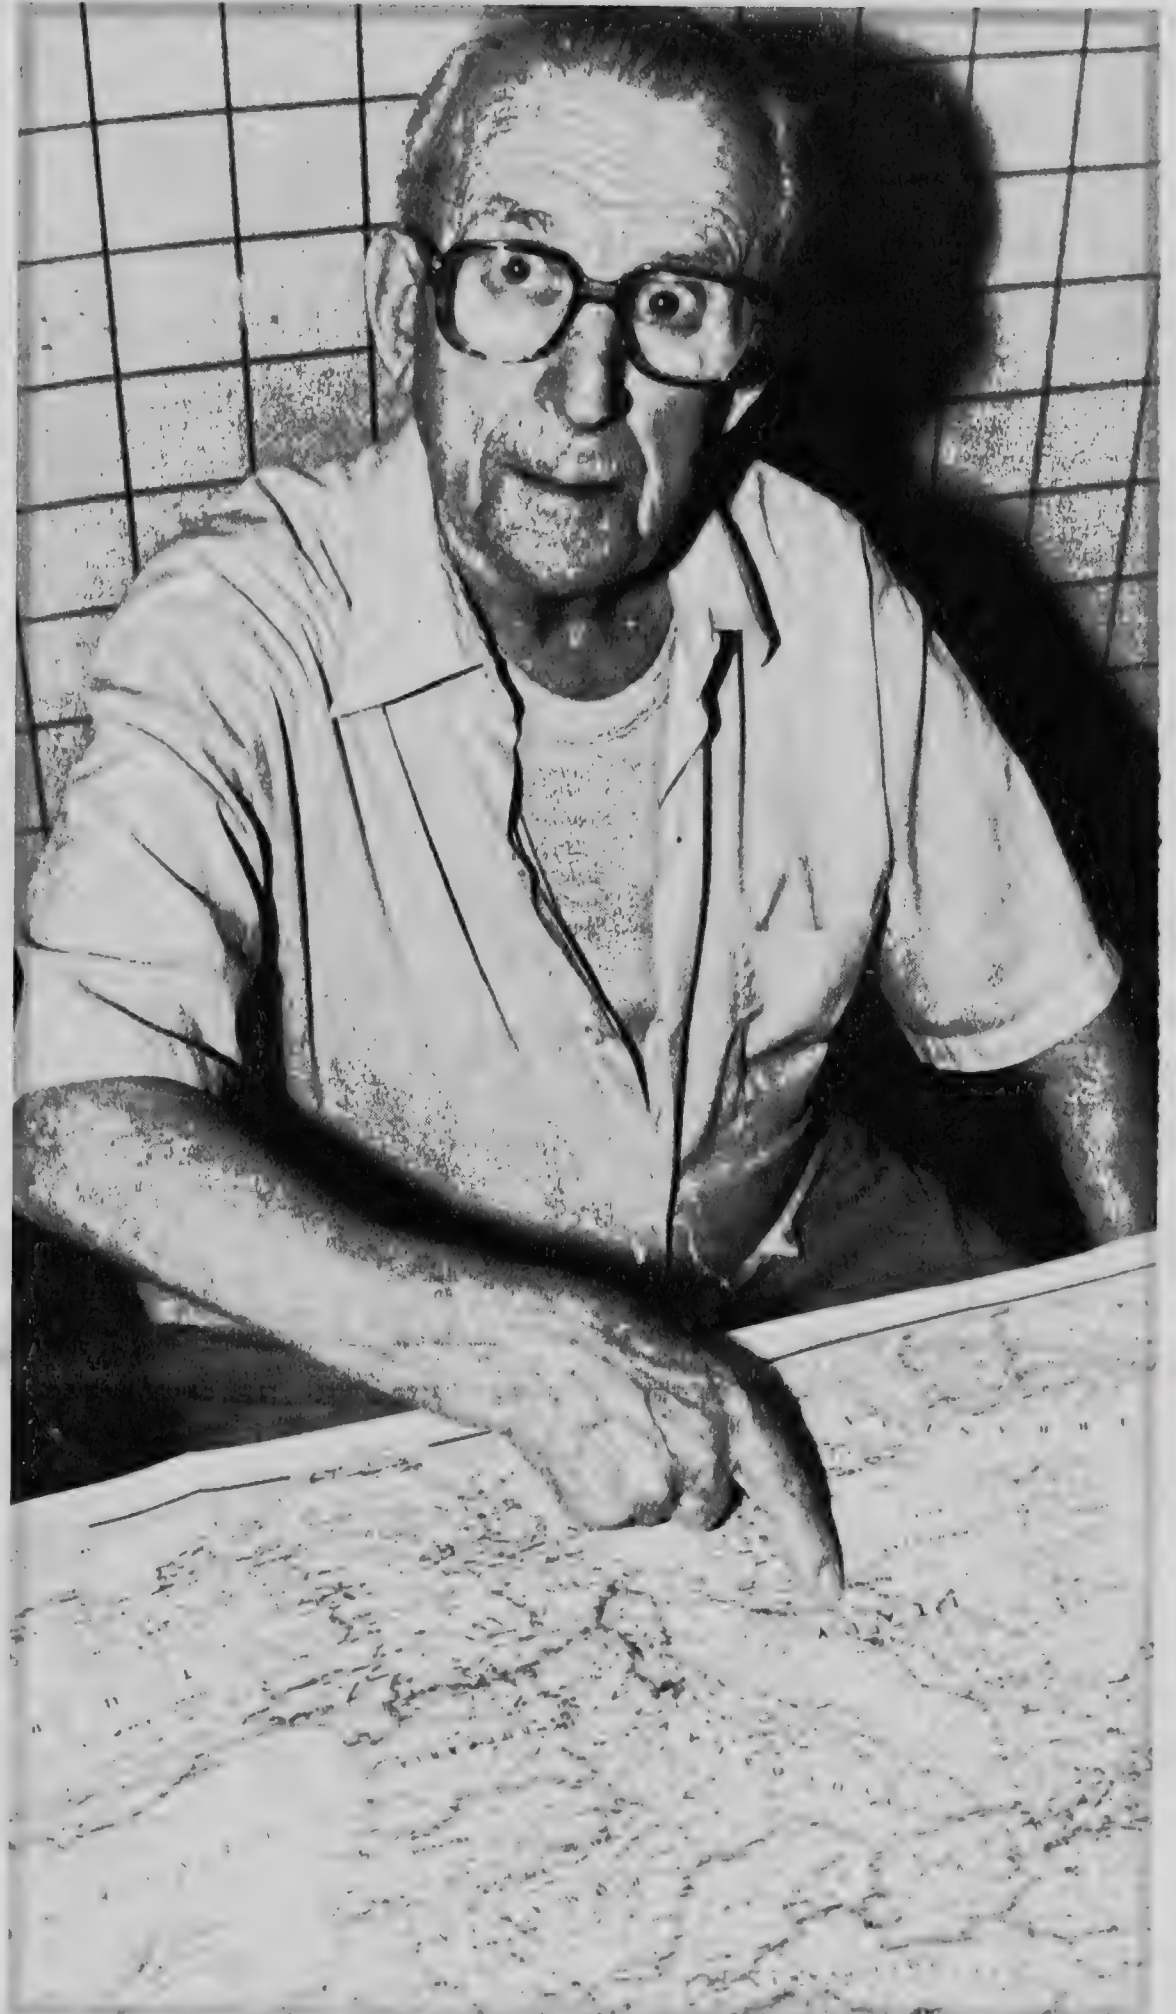

Soon after taking the island of Sicily with the Canadian, Australian, British and New Zealand Armies, Feir found himself in a landing barge with 80 other men and 150 tons of tanks, artillery, Bren gun carriers and vehicles. They crossed the four-mile wide Straights of Messina which was cluttered with sunken ships, barges and blown up docks and piers.

One of the conditions that Feir saw and became a victim of himself, was starvation. Soon after landing at Reggio di Calabria on the toe of Italy's boot the horrors of war again became cruelly apparent.

The note book reads: "One Italian was coming along the roadway leading a 30 year old, grey donkey and it dropped dead. In 10 or 15 minutes there were dozens of starving men and women all trying to cut off a piece of its meat; hide and all, then rush away with it. After about 40 minutes the only part left was the carcass. The guts and even its head had disappeared.

"These people had not had flour, bread or meat for months. The hardest part is to see small children hungry. Many of them would run after our truck 'till they would fall down on the side of the road from utter exhaustion. Many times I gave up a much needed meal to those children."

During the northern advance up the boot of Italy, sniper fire from the guerillas was menacing all the way to Feir's first major battles at Sangro and the Moro River crossing.

Cyril Feir at age 83 remembers the Italian campaign

It was during that trek north that Feir inflicted his first casualty "as far as I know." The dead sniper was an Italian woman.

During his interview with the Echo Feir paused, staring down at the map of Europe for long pensive moments as he reminisced those days of horror.

In another major battle at Ortano on the coast of the Adriatic, Feir was hit by shrapnel in his right ankle. The lack of medical attention available meant he had to dig the shrapnel out himself with his bayonet. Another piece of shrapnel is still lodged in muscles near his left shoulder blade.

After performing surgery on himself he carried on signalling during the Ortano battle and later marched west to Campobasso which was taken by Canadians in a heroic battle. Feir wrote in his note book that all the battles fought with the 8th Army "have some very sad memories for me."

Feir took note of General Montgomery's address to the 8th Army troops, in Campobasso: "Six Allied divisions to hold 25 German divisions until the opening of the Anzio beachhead." Montgomery advised that the troops rest in Campobasso before the next advance on Cassino, where the first American troops Feir had seen throughout the course of the war, needed support.

But during the much needed rest at Campobasso, Feir got an opportunity to have skin grafts performed from one calf to the other on his legs to patch up his own rough surgery many days earlier.

During his stay in a monastery at Campobasso, Feir and his colleagues were plagued with body lice and fleas. Eventually he contracted malaria and was sent home on a ship to Liverpool which was attacked by German U-boats and the Luftwaffe all the way.

After recuperating from his wounds and malaria, Feir was given 14 days leave in Norfolk near Scotland. "I took 15 days," he said with a cunning glint in his eye. When the Canadian Army asked him to participate in an instructors course Feir said "No". He wanted to go home to Haliburton.

"They stripped me right down to sergeant right away, fast," after he had held the rank of Sergeant Major in North Africa and Italy. "I had done my fair share."

It was the second time Feir had lost a rank for refusing an order.

The first time was after Dunkirk when he was ordered back to Cobourg, Ontario to take an officers training course. He refused to go back and leave the war in Europe. "I was over there to fight a war," not to play with officers in Ontario. He came home in the early months of 1945 as a sergeant, stationed at Toronto's Exhibition grounds for the last few months of the war.

The day after his interview with the Echo, Cyril Feir said, "I didn't sleep hardly any last night," after pouring over the old faded photographs and remembering the buddies he lost during the Italian and Dunkirk campaigns.

In a presentation to Boy Scouts and Girl Guides in 1946, Feir explained in his loose leaf note book what the "Soldier of today" is: Statistics show that 95 percent of the men are good soldiers. "Three percent get into trouble quite often from laxity and experimenting with regulations or bad company. But generally turn out to be dependable soldiers. The other two percent simply don't want to be soldiers and wouldn't be any good if they were."

"The soldier in the field of action of war is quite timid, like a little boy looking forward to Christmas only he is anxiously looking forward to action and when it comes and bullets whine, bombs explode and shells scream over head, the big time he has anticipated is at hand. After a time when things are quiet again he just feels like that same little boy after a Christmas is all over and gives a sigh of relief and looks forward to the next one."

Service station and gas bar opens

Wilberforce News

by Winnie Schofield

Jean Thomas presented her sixth annual piano recital on April 9 at the Harcourt Chapel. The room was filled with friends and relatives who had come to hear and to cheer the young students. It was an exciting, fearful time for those taking part and they won applause for their efforts at simple lyrics or with more complicated passages. Experience ranged from two years to six years of study. May Anne Jordens had advanced to higher grades provided at Bancroft where she had won a second place at this year's music festival. A light moment during the evening was provided by Eileen Agnew, popular Wilberforce resident, whose audible comments concerning misplaced music pages and the unfamiliar piano provoked sympathetic amusement. Ken Sanderson, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced the participants. He paid tribute to Jean Thomas as a person endowed with the necessary qualifications that make up a good teacher such as patience and dedication to each of her pupils. Following the recital refreshments were served. The following students took part: Dorothy Sanderson, Tammy Lee, Tim Hughes, May Anne Jordens, Wesley Hughes, Teresa Burroughs, David Hughes, Eileen Agnew, Jon Hughes, Robin Barbour and David Jordens.

Here is some good news for all car owners. The Texaco service station will be opening for business this week. John Mitchell will be serving gas and will provide the experience of a mechanic to service your car. The new business will be known as the Wilberforce Texaco and Service Centre. Good luck to John Mitchell in his new venture.

In the write up of Norma and Francis Noble and their Golden Anniversary we mentioned that their daughter Donna Dowding played the piano for the sing song. This is an error for which we are sorry. Donna paid tribute to her parents and it was Carol Bradley who so ably accompanied the singers.

Kintoria Day is coming on May 18. The Kinsmen will be holding their annual auction at the Wilberforce arena, outside if the day is fine. They will appreciate any of your discarded articles for their sale. Call any member for pick up. Dwain Tighe can be reached at 448-2336.

Here's a gardening tip from Jimmy Deterling. The whip-poor-wills have arrived. Time to plant your corn.

"We are for real" says president of J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School's newly formed Home and School Association, Lornelle Casey, wielding the gavel. She will bring to order, vice president Jane Selbie, secretary, Maxine McGee, and treasurer, Loretta Billings at their first meeting on June 3. The executives are asking parents to sign up and participate in efforts to co-operate with teachers and the school's administration.

CAT scan fund up by $675

Norland News

by Kelly Graham

I hope you had a great week. The election results are in and as most of you know Frank Miller, leader of the Progressive Conservative party, remains Ontario's premier with a total of 51 seats. The Liberal party were close, however, with 48 seats and Bob Rae and the New Democrats won 25 seats. In the riding of Victoria-Haliburton Liberal incumbent John Eakins was defeated by Murray Fearrey, Progressive Conservative, or Art Field, New Democrat.

We certainly have some great people working for the CATscan fund in this area: the Norland Women's Institute group in Norland raised $675 at a recent dance while the students at Coboconk Public School raised $125 at their talent show last week. As some of you may have noticed, construction on Norland's new recreation centre has begun. Completion is expected by the end of October.

For those of you who hate to cook during the summer the Norland Trading Company now boasts a snack bar with lots of delicious foods for snacks and meals.

Kinmount Korner

by Millie Moss

I was glad to hear Karen Graham is home from Ross Memorial Hospital following her tonsilectomy and is doing well.

Elizabeth Fryer, Ann and Derek Spencer visited Claremont, Ontario recently to attend a 50th wedding anniversary.

We enjoyed having Mr. and Mrs. Sid Thomas of Head Lake stop by our place last week. They are very busy people these days, being connected with the Naval Sea Cadets, who hold their meetings every Tuesday evening at the Coboconk Legion. Some 65 young people joined this very worthwhile group from Norland, Coboconk and Kirkfield. Kinmount was included but to date, I understand, no one was taking part. Uniforms have been ordered and a number of activities are being planned to help raise funds which will help in the cost of the uniforms, badges and other needed items.

We'll have some good citizens, I'm sure, when they receive their training. The boys and girls are in the Cadet Corps until age 13 and then go into the Rangers if they so wish. If you wish to know more of this venture call Sid at 454-3724.

I hope everyone who is feeling miserable of late with the sore throat, hoarseness, etc. will be much better very soon.

I was sorry to hear Arnold England's back in hospital.

A young lady in town asks the acting Post Mistress if she will write a letter to her or put her name in the paper, so to little Miss Jennie Rolfe: hello Jennie, from all of us.

Welcome home, Vi and Albert Crego.

A mixed dart tournament was held on April 20 at the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 441. There were 16 teams taking part and at the end of the very enjoyable day the standings were: Lindsay taking first place, Coboconk, second and third place. In the doubles Coboconk took first place, Lindsay second and Omamee third. Singles was won by Coboconk, Kinmount was second and Lindsay took third. Teams participating in the tournament came from Cannington, Beaverton, Omamee, Lindsay, Haliburton, Bobcaygeon, Coboconk and Kinmount.

On our way to vote last week, it was very nice indeed to see Charlie Henderson going into his house. Welcome home Charlie.

It's beautiful spring flowers coming into bloom once again and while out raking and getting flowerbeds at the ready I've discovered pansies in full bloom along with other varieties I'd planted last year, also in full bloom, and I thought these would have to be dug under.

It was nice to see Nora Crego out to bingo again following her hospital stay.

Best wishes to Father Brooks in all his future undertakings.

Well folks, there is nothing much to report this week. Flags are all in good shape except for one hanging upside down. Renovations are going on at Scott's IGA and starting to look very nice. The bridge is painted and people we haven't seen all winter are beginning to congregate downtown.

Visiting artist helps kids fashion monstrous masks

By HAMISH GORDON

The Rails' End Gallery is haunted this week with 12 of the best beastly mask creations done by fourth grade Hodgson Elementary School children.

They were given a crash course on the artistic theme of "bestiality" last week by mask designer Rae Anderson of Toronto.

She was in Haliburton for a five day Creative Artists in Schools program sponsored by the Ontario Arts Council to expose public school children to art forms they wouldn't otherwise get a chance to try out.

The fourth graders learned how to use their imagination with acrylic paints and papier mache.

of alien beasts and monsters that they could conjure.

Anderson's bestiality theme encouraged the children to create the most frightening renditions

Although teachers expose the children to art, Anderson said, "it tends to take second place" to the academic programs.

Jason Shirk, 10, said "we took two days to make (the masked monstrosities) and we're going to be writing a story about them."

Jennifer Smith, who had mixed feelings about the art form, said "I hated the papier mache, but I liked the feeling of the glue."

Anderson was also at Archie Stouffer Public School in Minden the week before teaching and demonstrating her craft.

If you dare venture to the gallery be warned of the visual impact that black and white photographs cannot portray.

These 12 monstrosities from J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School's fourth grade are hanging at the Rails' End Gallery this week. Beware of the visual impact that black and white photographs cannot portray. They were made at a workshop supervised by artist Rae Anderson.

Pair honoured for community aid

Coboconk News

by Shiela Lake

Last Saturday evening, two charter members of the local Lions' Club were honoured at a dinner at the Community Hall. Dr. R.E. Jamieson and Bill Shields were honoured for their long time service to the community. More about that next week.

Mrs. Sam Routley (Mildred) is again back in Ross Memorial Hospital. She was admitted on Monday. I hope you make a fast recovery, Millie.

Winners in the seniors card games held in the Coboconk Community Hall are as follows for April 30: Euchre - ladies' first, Lou Brentnell, 74; second, Hazel Young, 73; most lone hands, Marjorie Lee, 5; consolation, Thelma Adams, 38. Gents' first, Ross Short, 79; second, Ed Holland, 70; most lone hands, Robinette Harding, 4; consolation, Alice Madill, 45. Bridge - first, Myra Dione, 6070; second, Terry Park, 4970; consolation, Pat Cornelius, 1310.

I have talked to several people concerning the obscene phone calls. Address Peel has been the recipient of such a call, and Pearl Brohm at Norland. I talked with an OPP officer and his wife in Fenelon Falls. She got a call from a friend of hers who had got such a call, so apparently, this weirdo is busy in Norland and Fenelon Falls as well as here in Coby.

Ben Farrow is home from hospital. Mrs. Ruby Greer had surgery in Ross Memorial Hospital on Wednesday. Mrs. Mary Limrick is on the sick list, as of today, Saturday. Get well wishes to all of you folks.

Mrs. Mary Limrick, Mrs. Annie Marles and yours truly were visitors of Mrs. Linda Crete and Kim at Pickerel Point on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tooze are moving into the Jones apartment building at the bottom of the street.

June Maynard has sold here lovely home and has purchased a house in Fenelon Falls. June will be moving shortly.

At the moment, it seems Ontario Hydro is going out on strike. Let's hope the strike will be very brief or we may end up using candles. We all take our modern day conveniences for granted and it would be a real hardship to be without electric power.

Gooderham residents try the polar bear plunge

Gooderham News

by Mary Hadley

Toronto is not the only place with a polar bear club. Walter and Pat Baron took a plunge in the icy waters of Pine Lake last Saturday. The last remnants of ice seemed to have disappeared only the previous day. Less than a month before this hardy pair were swimming in the almost tepid waters of the Gulf of Mexico. What a contrast this must have been!

Last Saturday evening a pleasant event occurred at Graham's Restaurant when Darlene Reil was tendered a baby shower. Shelley Greenwood and Darlene's sister, Anna Marie, acted as hostesses. The huge number of attractive as well as practical gifts attested to the popularity of this young 'mother-to-be'. Goodies to tempt the taste buds and coffee were served throughout the evening by the hostesses and their helpers.

Now that summer is around the corner the liquor store in Gooderham will re-open on Thursday, May 16. For July and August new hours will be in effect. The outlet will be open six days a week and remain open 'till 9 p.m. on Friday nights. We welcome back to our community Bonnie Maxwell who will again be the manageress.

The winning top honours at the Gooderham Bridge Club last Tuesday night were: Ruth McLean, Gwen Taylor and George Hickey.

Another exchange at the Glamorgan Library produced another interesting selection of books in every category. Of special interest to home makers is a book called 'Elegant Desserts'. This beautifully illustrated book has step-by-step instructions for delicious and elegant desserts. Another cook book is 'The Complete Book of Soups and Stews' by Bernard Clayton, Jr. This generous and warming collection of recipes contains dishes from all over the world. There is also a book on 'Quilts and Quilting' for the ladies.

'Choice', by Liv Ullman, is a new biography.

Drop in and take advantage of the free service provided by your local library.

Dallyn Pickens, Jr., who has been working for Utell International in Johannesburg, South Africa, has been transferred to the head office in London, England. We congratulate Dallyn on this promotion and wish him continued success in this career. We are glad you are nearer home, Dallyn!

Vera Reil, with her son, Ray, of Lindsay, flew to Spruce Grove, Alberta to visit another son, Gordon and his wife, Joan. Gordon is recovering from a broken leg which happened over six months ago and has caused much concern. Vera's grandson, while delivering papers, told one customer his grandmother from Gooderham was visiting at his home. Who was this customer? None other than Gayle Frith, daughter of Ileen and Ivan Hunter. What a small world!

While there, Vera visited Sandy and Bill McCullough, former owners of Mountain View Lodge, who now live near Spruce Grove.

Grace Billings has returned after spending a week in the Lindsay hospital. She recuperated at the home of her sister, Reta, in Fenelon Falls. We trust you enjoy better health soon, Grace.

Maria Birzvilkis passed away this past winter. Because of failing health she had sold her home to Jim and Shelley Greenwood and moved near Pickering to be close to family members. Her husband predeceased her several years ago. Last week his remains were moved from the Glamorgan Cemetery to be beside his wife. Sympathy to her family.

221 voters turned out at the municipal office in Gooderham last Thursday to exercise their franchise. Results at this location were: Eakins, 120; Fearrey, 75; and Field, 26.

A landmark in our community is being removed. The Orange Hall, number 11, will soon be only a memory. Grand Lodge have given their consent to have this building, much in need of repairs, to be torn down. This is presently being done by John Travis.

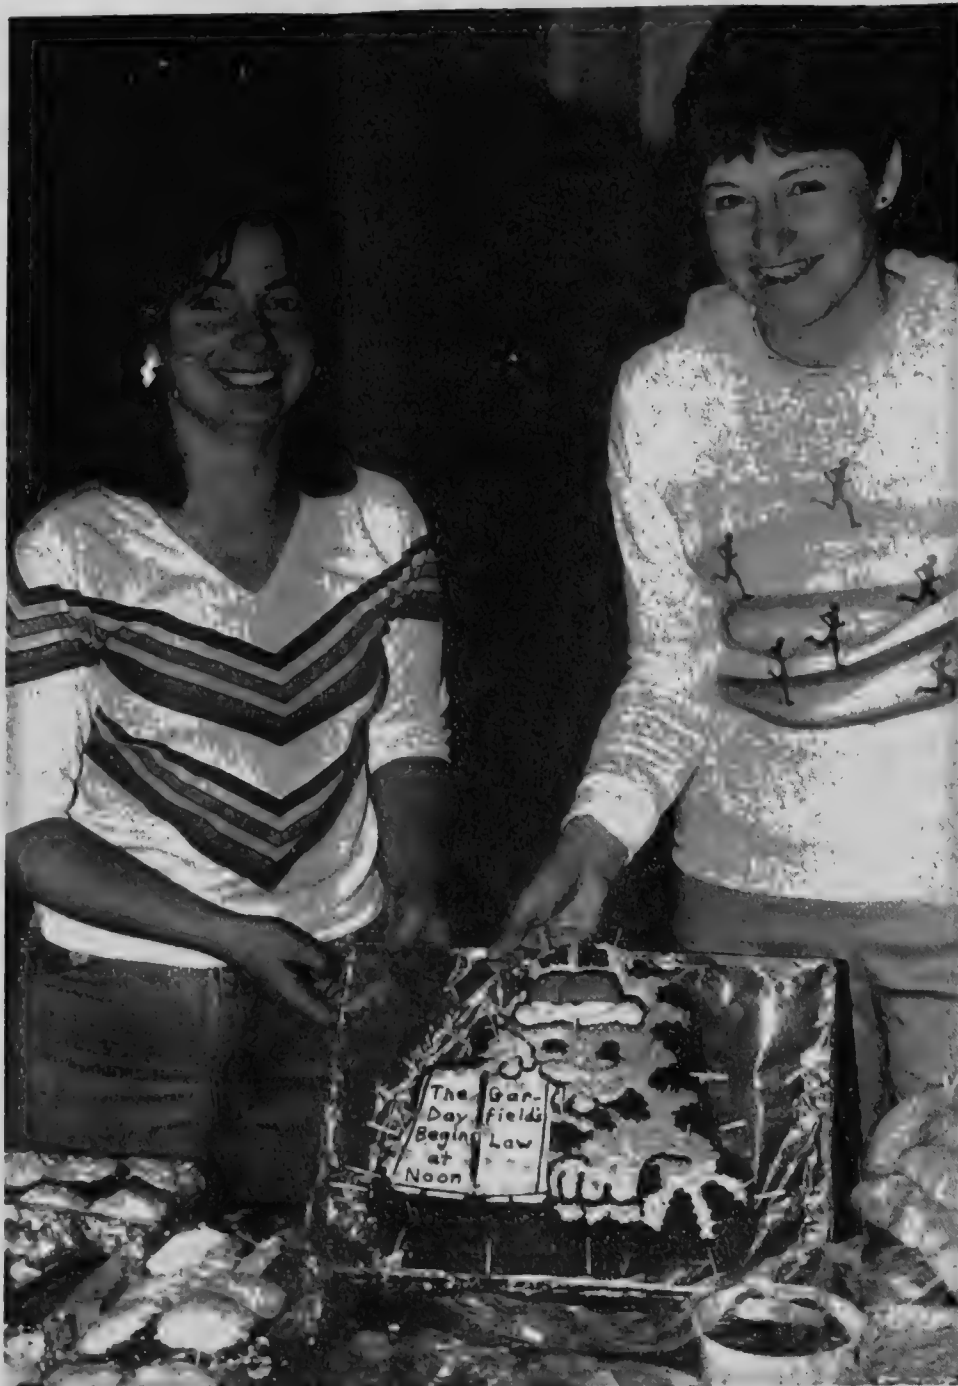

Gordon Barr kindly supplied me with some information about the early days of this fraternal organization. This structure was erected in 1888. It was known as L.O.L. #11 Monmouth. I understand Monmouth and Glamorgan were one township at that time.

J.J. Hunter became a member in 1889. In that year the brothers met in the hall at 5:30 a.m. before they drove their teams to Gelett to observe the "Glorious Twelfth".

In 1890 John Maxwell was master. The occupation of most of the members was recorded as "yeoman".

Some of our senior readers will recall the names of just a few masters: J.W. Gould, Fred White, Joshua Pickens, Archie McColl, William Madill, Sydney Switzer, Solomon Hadley, Willard Billings, Roy Hadley, Garnet Hadley and G.W. Barr.

Peter Barr, who died in 1921, stored some dynamite caps under the steps of the hall. His son, G.W. Barr, alerted the demolition crew. His son, Ron, located them.

This cake was part of a large selection of baked goods, crafts and other items on sale at the Legion Flea Market in Haliburton on Saturday. Proceeds from the event were donated to the CAT Scan fund. Holding the cake are Ginny Pockett, left, and Ellen Fyfe.

'No more politics on TV'

Dorset News

by Phyllis Briscoe

"It is not difficult to identify the people who can't count to ten; they are always in front of you in the supermarket express line."

At last it's over, for a time at least. No more politics on TV. We have to be satisfied with baseball and what's left of hockey. Let's hope that no one upsets the apple cart, precipitating another election. It would be so easy for the opposition, being disgruntled with some government action, or just being contrary, to ask for a vote of no confidence. If this occurs let it be in the far distant

Kristen Creelman of Grade 7 (far right) and Jeff Hallman of Grade 8 (not present) won the public speaking competition this year at J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School. Home was polling place on election day

by Bert Harrison at Hyland Crest

Dear readers, it was a very busy week here at Hyland Crest. Nearly everyone had relatives or special guest. Visitors were coming and going nearly all the time, and on this lovely Monday morning the sun does surely shine.

My son Roger came to visit me and we had lunch together.

In the chapel service Sunday night everything seemed to go just right. Rev. Burgess spoke very interestingly of Jesus lighting a fire on the shore, cooking fish for disciples who had fished all night and caught nothing. Jesus said "come and dine."

Monday morning there was no fun and fitness for the residents. Instead there was voting in the auditorium for those who would not be able to vote on election day.

Our cleaners work day after day to keep this place clean inside, our maintenance men to keep it nice outside.

We have Edna Cowan back after a week holiday. Her roommate Lillie Hogg missed Edna while she was away.

We had an auxiliary meeting April 29. They are always doing something to help out here, by the way. They have bought six lovely card tables and a dozen lawn chairs. Whatever is needed here they're always there.

Tuesday morning this last April day, Pastor Wood and Mrs. Wood of Allsaw Pentecostal Light House came and conducted the service in the chapel. While Pastor Wood was giving a very interesting passage to us, Mrs. Wood lead the singing and the music she did play. Thank you for coming we would like to say.

Tuesday afternoon Linda showed us three interesting movies. Not too many came to see 'Colour Lively', 'Pipers All', and 'The Pioneer Story'.

Mrs. and Mrs. Dean Hodgson came to call which was surely grand. They saw some good old friends again.

Tuesday night Everett Fearrey and daughter Terri-Lyn came to play and sing for us, which was very fine. Please come back to us again sometime.

Tuesday noon Mrs. Stutt's daughter, Ruth came to her to dine. She is holding sway at school this time at Minden.

There was no fun and fitness for voting day last Thursday. Many people were no doubt anxious to know how the results turned out.

The Minden UCV ladies brought and served lunch on this Thursday. We would like to have played some tunes to thank them in some small way, but we had a resident council meeting to attend. While Doris is away on a week's holiday Linda is keeping activities running smoothly.

Olive Hamilton is away. We hope she is having a nice holiday.

We would like to thank the bingo callers who came Thursday night to call the bingo games, Larry Amyotte and Brian Hamilton. The players said the game was great. Some players won five games, Millie Wood won eight.

Friday afternoon Grace Coburn came to lead us in a sing-a-long. Norman Borran played the music. Then Linda led us in a very interesting discussion to end a perfect day.

A word about the Haliburton Home Support program. They are doing great work. Please help them all you can.

There is romance in the letter 'O'. And what's more striking too. There's warmth and cheer in your heart. Since 'O' is found in you.

Volunteers visit schools

As part of our public education program, volunteers or office staff visit the grade 6 classes of schools located in Haliburton County to inform them of the Haliburton County Home Support Services and our Drop-In Centre. Edna Sedgwick volunteered her time to go to Archie Stouffer Public School where she talked to two classes during education week as part of their V.I.P. Program. (Very Interesting Persons). I visited the grade 5 and 6 class at Cardiff Public School last week. Then the same week Katherine McMahon, our Drop-In Centre Activities Programmer/Receptionist, and myself talked to three classes at J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School. All of us thoroughly enjoyed our time with the students and found them very interest-ted in our services.

New volunteers for our friendly visiting program to seniors and disabled persons were added to our list as students volunteered their time to do this important service. Thank you. On behalf of all of us, "Thank you" to the Haliburton County Board of Education, the principals, teachers and students for allowing us to visit you.

If you are a senior or disabled person or if you know of someone who is in need of any of our services, please contact our office at 457-2941. We are open five days a week, Monday to Friday.

Our spring newsletter is now ready for pick up. They are for anyone and are free of charge.

Curbside recycling is working!

Curbside recycling: The collection system for glass, newspapers and steel food and beverage cans. It's working. And it's growing, right across Ontario!

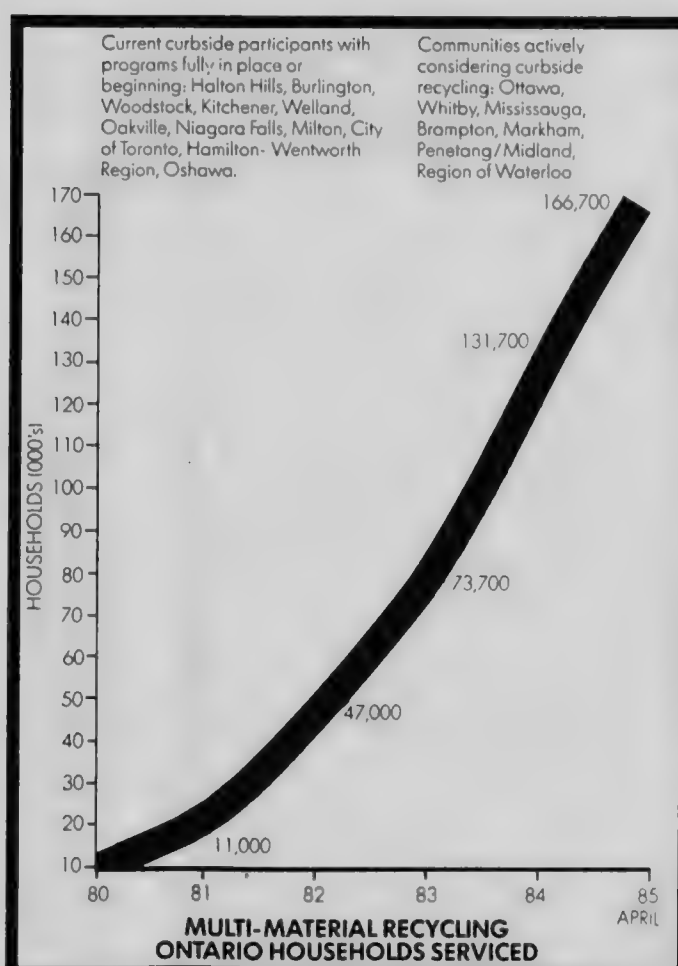

Thanks to the co-operation of industry, concerned municipalities, and tens of thousands of householders, the curbside recycling concepts of the Ontario Ministry of the Environment's 'Blueprint for Waste Management' are being implemented, smoothly and efficiently.

Up to 24% of all household solid waste products can be recycled!

Steel beverage cans account for a relatively small part of that percentage—but when food cans are added, steel represents 6% of all household solid waste, or one quarter of the recycled materials mix. In terms of recycling, no other metal has the quantity potential of steel. Today, in many Ontario communities, newspaper, glass containers and steel food and beverage cans are being directed back to industry for recycling through curbside collection.

Everyone benefits!

Curbside recycling makes good economic sense. It gives all of us the practical opportunity to turn waste into useful resources. But that's just part of the benefits story. Curbside recycling works for a cleaner environment, prolongs the life of existing dump sites, and delays the need for new ones. It supports the growing recycling industry. And that means new jobs—including employment for specialized target groups. Basic paper, glass and steel producers buy the scrap materials they need to maintain manufacturing efficiency, cut energy usage, and conserve natural resources.

Components of recyclable household waste. Estimated percentage of total household waste: Newspaper 10%, glass containers 8%, steel food cans 5%, beverage cans 1%.

What we're doing to help The Canadian Tinplate Recycling Council* is taking a leadership role in the curbside program. We work closely with all levels of government to promote their recycling concepts and encourage program start-ups.

We work with the recyclers, too. We outline the many benefits of curbside recycling to their municipalities. We also help them design their systems, and promote household participation. We have established a floor price for the purchase of used steel food and beverage cans from approved recyclers who use curbside collection systems. This way, we work to protect Ontario jobs—by increasing the flow of recycled materials back into the system. Steel food and beverage cans are a vital part of the multi-material mix that makes curbside recycling so effective. For the canmaking industry, steel has played a key role in the development of materials that make new packaging designs possible, including today's most cost effective metal beverage container.

How you can help

If curbside recycling is already operating in your community, be a 'good sort'. Join the thousands of Ontarians who set aside their newspaper, glass containers and steel food and beverage cans for pick-up by their recyclers. If your municipality is considering curbside recycling, let them know you support it. Or if you'd like to know more about the curbside program for recycling waste in Ontario, we'll be happy to send you a free information folder.

"As the largest generator of can scrap from curbside collection in Ontario, I recognize the vital role steel cans play in the success of my operation."

Nyle Ludolph, TOTAL RECYCLING, KITCHENER

"We're happy to co-operate with Niagara Recycling. We feel good about our contribution to a better environment, and curbside collection makes it easy to participate."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Basnett, HOUSEHOLDERS NIAGARA FALLS

"We believe in curbside collection. It's a reasonable and realistic way to divert a significant amount of solid wastes from our landfill sites. City of Oshawa grants a waste diversion credit to our local recycler, Durham Recycling, to reflect a portion of the savings achieved by diverting newsprint, steel cans and glass from the landfill site. It's the only way to go."

Bruce MacArthur, CHAIRMAN PUBLIC WORKS COMMITTEE

*Beginning in 1983, the Council is a joint venture of Dalasco Inc. and Steelco Inc. Both steelmakers use recycled steel based and beverage cans to make new steel products. To date, millions of cans have been collected and recycled. And the recycling rate is growing steadily.

Wild vegetables

Monday was not the best of days for walking in the bush. But Judy and I had a particular goal in mind. Leeks! Those wild, aromatic vegetables that spring up this time of year, amongst the violets and the trillium.

On the other hand, it was a marvelous day for making soup. Damp enough to make us appreciate the warmth of the kitchen wood stove. And chilly enough to need the tummy soothing warmth of a good pot of homemade soup. I guess to the purists, that means it's not really vichyssoise. We don't care for cold potato, leek soup.

It's great to be able to trek around the countryside hunting for nature's gifts like some primitive beings. Mind you, I'm not as adventuresome as some nature buffs. But the leeks, morels, the wild berries, and even the inner pulp of the cattails are special treats we look forward to as the warmer seasons come.

There are some problems with wild foods. They tend to be on the small side. It takes an awful lot of picking, for instance, to get enough strawberries or raspberries to make a pie. Wild leeks are no exception. My leek soup recipe calls for 2-domestic leeks, which is supposed to make about one cup. Now I dug up quite a few leeks. It must have been close to fifty. And after cleaning them and slicing them (white part only), I still didn't quite have one cup. All these little treats take a lot longer to clean too. So long that you sometimes wonder if they're really a treat at all.

Then, these lovely smells come seeping from the kettle, filling the house, making your mouth water in anticipation. And soon you sit down to a simple meal of soup, pumpernickel rolls, and a small salad.

It's simply heaven.

Area camp to help residents with cleanup chores

Guilford News

by Eleanor Cooper

Wishes for good recovery go out to several of our residents who are at present in hospital: Arthur Barry, Sharon Upton, John Gilkinson. Former resident of West Guilford, Kathy Stamp also needs a friendly call. She had the misfortune to fall and break her wrist.

Congratulations to Nicole Kanter who won second prize at the Bancroft music festival for her Grade 8 piece, 'Rising Sun'.

Thanks to all who contributed to the Cancer Society. The canvassers appreciate it greatly.

A few students from this area went on a band school exchange to London. They included Vince Duchene, Nichole Kanter and Andy Cooper.

Laurel and Charlie Yate-man had the pleasure of attending an Anne Murray concert at the O'Keefe Centre in Toronto on the weekend.

This is the fourth annual May-Day Clean-Up provided by Camp Medeba. What it involves is the clearing up of yards, piling wood, raking lawns and making gardens neater for spring. The people who do this work for the seniors in the Guilford area are young people involved with Greg Brown and Camp Medeba. I can vouch for the effectiveness of their May-Day labours; they do a good job every year next door. If you are interested, phone 754-3470.

The David Chumbley family of Oshawa spent the weekend with Ron and Erma Sisson.

We're all rejoicing in the safe arrival of twins born to Don and Vicki Sisson on Friday in Peterborough. Alexander Nelson and Mary Elizabeth will no doubt make life exciting for their brother Bobby. Congratulations all round.

Jean Henderson departs this week for a trip to England and Europe. Bon voyage. Happy travelling in whatever language or country you encounter. Jean. We'll miss you but have a good time.

Bernie Nicholls is home for a week having had his first venture in European hockey. His efforts helped Team Canada attain the silver medal. Well done.

Eleanor Cooper has tickets for 'The Importance of Being Ernest'. I'll be happy to sell you advance tickets for a dollar less than you pay at the door. This play is going to be a lot of fun to watch, people, come and enjoy it.

Mr. Child's French class from grade eight is on a trip to Quebec. The group includes Angie and Lyndell Morrison, Rhonda Callard, Kerry Martin, Troy Austen, Gerald Morrison and Terry-Lynn Barry. Mrs. Joan Cooper and Ev Stata were among five women from this area who went to the Calorie Counters convention at the Westbury Hotel in Toronto on the weekend. Twenty-one clubs were represented. Joan became princess for 1984. Our congratulations to Joan along with the ribbons and roses she received. Good for you.

Haliburton hosts Senior Games

For the second year, Haliburton will be hosting the Senior Games in June. Last year there were over 200 entries and we are expecting even greater participation this year. There is something for everyone, so be sure to enter.

There will be certificates for all participants, as well as gold, silver and bronze pins for the winners of each event.

The games will take place during the first three weeks of June. Application forms are available at Haliburton County Home Support Services Drop-In Centre. June 1 to be Walk for Water day in Minden

At a meeting April 25, Anson, Hindon and Minden council considered the following matters:

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Pittaway attended before council to express concern over certain possible effects which the proposed retail home improvement centre, to be located on adjacent property, may have on their home and grounds. Questions were raised concerning possible drainage problems, increased traffic, noise and vehicle exhaust pollution and decreased privacy. The clerk pointed out that the Ontario Building Code contains provisions which prohibit the placement of fill on any property which will adversely affect a neighbouring property. Members of council assured Mr. and Mrs. Pittaway that every effort would be made by the municipality to alleviate any such problems which might arise during the construction of the proposed store.

Quotations for annual municipal insurance coverage were received as follows: Floyd Hall Limited, $21,430; O.M.E. Insurance Brokers Limited, $13,207. Council accepted the O.M.E. quotation.

The Ontario Fire Marshall's Office was requested to conduct a municipal fire protection survey for the municipality in order to establish a priority for fire department needs.

Minutes of the March 27 and April 17 meetings of the Planning Advisory Committee were adopted as circulated to all members.

Leroy Lichty and Tom Prentice, representing the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association, attended before council to discuss the requirement of moving the race track from its present site after the 1985 summer season. The HCSA is concerned that any loss of summer revenue will jeopardize normal winter operation. Lichty pointed out that one proposed site behind the arena would require the cutting of a large number of trees at great expense, in order to provide sufficient space for a track. He also pointed out that this site would not afford good viewing for spectators. In addition, there has already been some negative response from surrounding property owners.

Council confirmed that the present site was indeed temporary and would be formally incorporated under an amended park plan currently being formulated. Councillor Kenney suggested that since the HCSA is supported by all municipalities in the county, perhaps a more suitable location could be found in Lutterworth or Stanhope while still affording the proximity of Minden. It was agreed that councillor Stevens would work with the HCSA to inspect various municipally-owned sites, such as the former sand pit on the Scotch Line East, and the gravel pit on the Bobcaygeon Road, and to assess the same as to suitability. Lichty also advised council that the OSRF had expressed some interest in holding a world cup snowmobile race in Minden. Such an event could attract up to 11,000 people over the three days of the event, with obvious positive benefits to local businesses. However, he stressed that such machines were indeed noisy. Council suggested that the HCSA should conduct an opinion poll concerning the holding of such an event and contact all area residents. If the HCSA can show that people are willing to accept the holding of such an event on a trial basis, then council will consider sanctioning such a proposal.

Sid Stamp, representing the Minden Kinsmen Club, was present to discuss with council a proposal to install approximately 15 anodized aluminum benches in various locations along the river and throughout the downtown area.

Council agreed to accept, with thanks, the proposal to install aluminum plank benches at various locations throughout the downtown area, in co-operation with the Parks Supervisor and the B.I.A.

Vi Duquette, co-owner of the Orange Grove Resort on Orde Street, outlined to council a proposal to sell the buildings on this resort property to various individuals but share the land and facilities on a co-operative basis. Council agreed that this proposed use was in compliance with the existing zoning and would therefore not require any special approval, since the land was not being divided. The owners were made aware of the usual provisions regarding demolition of or alterations to any legal non-conforming buildings.

The reeve and clerk were authorized to sign a contract with E. Deacon Bus Lines to provide transportation for the 1985 Minden Swim Program at the rate of $33.50 per trip to the Twelve Mile Lake site.

The tender for crushing 10,000 yards of gravel at two locations, as submitted by Fred Nelson and Sons Ltd., at the rate of $1.89 per yard of the belt, was accepted, subject to M.T.C. approval.

Brian Sisson reported that he had received a request to have the half-load restriction imposed on certain town streets lifted temporarily to permit the delivery of fill. Members of council agreed that this restriction should not be lifted since the risk of damage to the roads at this time of year is too great to justify an exemption.

Dearden and Stanton Limited were authorized to complete a plan of survey of part of the Forced Township Road across part of Lot 13, Concession 11, in the Township of Minden, leading from Red Umbrella Road to Bissett Court, at an estimated price of $550 to $650.

The tender submitted by Greer Galloway and Assoc. for the completion of a structural evaluation of municipal bridges in the amount of $3,750 was accepted, subject to MTC approval.

The following materials will be ordered: 37,000 gal. non-asphaltic road oil at $.95 ($35,150) Caham Oil; 27 tonnes liquid calcium at $227.66 ($6,146.82) Ken W. Morris Ltd.; 9 tonnes bagged calcium chloride at $306.96 ($2,762.64) Canada Transport Ltd.; 9,000 LRS1 patching emulsion at $.2285 ($2,056.50) McAsphalt Industries Ltd.

The tender submitted by Jim Garbutt for street cleaning for 1985, in the amount of $6,565 was accepted.

The following accounts were approved for payment: General, $29,553.55; Water, $517.76; and Sewer, $12,203.30.

A resolution submitted by the Town of Fort Erie regarding a review of the grant in lieu of taxes paid by public hospitals and provincial mental health facilities was supported.

The Minden County Town Museum board was granted permission to hold a rummage and bake sale at the downtown parkette on May 18.

Brian Sisson and Ed Pergolas were authorized to attend the Ontario Parks Association conference in Owen Sound from July 24 to July 27, 1985, and the provisions of Policy No. 4 shall apply.

Beverley Millar was authorized to attend the AMCTO annual conference in Toronto from July 7 to 10, 1985, and the provisions of Policy No. 4 shall apply.

Council supported the Ontario Federation of Agriculture in its request for the Ministry of Natural Resources to hold public meetings to discuss the proposed policies governing wetlands.

Council considered the Haliburton Concerned Citizens' group's letter commenting on CMHC's Rural and Native Housing Program. Each member of council spoke in disagreement with the tone of the letter. Council acknowledged that the RNHP program has faults which need correction and improvement, but all members supported and recognized the basic values of this type of program. Several members of this group were present and responded to various points in the discussion. Council requested the clerk to make copies of this letter available on request so that all interested parties could have an opportunity to read the same thoroughly. It was agreed by all parties that this issue requires and deserves a more involved review by all factions. Councillor G. Kenney tabled the following motion for consideration at the next meeting: "Be it resolved that council believes the Rural and Native Housing Program can be of benefit to this municipality and with regard for future implementation will form a committee comprised of members of council and representative ratepayers charged with a responsibility to: meet with RNHP representatives to assess current potential within the townships for the program; assess the benefits of new housing vs renovation options within the program; familiarize themselves with specific details of the application formulae; comment on improvements that may be made in the way of information released to the public; and report to council prior to implementation of the program."

June 1, 1985 was declared Municipal Walk for Water Day, and the reeve was requested to bring this motion to County Council for support.

Council decided to provide a job description for each existing permanent municipal position. Each job description will be written by a committee of council in consultation with the appropriate department supervisor and Ontario Ministry representative, and each job description will be submitted for final adoption and inclusion in the pertinent municipal by-laws by resolution of council.

Councillor G. Kenney expressed the concern that problems regarding Block A, Plan 561, Soyers Lake, be resolved as soon as possible. The clerk confirmed that the municipal solicitor will be reporting to council in this regard prior to the next meeting.

Councillor G. Kenney tabled the following motion for consideration at the next regular meeting of council: "Be it resolved that with regard for the surplus of the 1984 budget allotment over actual municipal expenditures, council directs a minimum of $30,000 to the 1985 Roads budget for specific uses designated by the Road Committee that will begin a program of repairs to those rural roads with the greatest need."

future.

Some more birthdays are coming up. Many happy returns to Greg Kernohan who will be 12 years old on May 13, and a happy birthday to Emma Schneider who also celebrates on the 13th. Greetings to Frank Large who tacks on another year on May 15. Congratulations to all.

Get well wishes to Maida Stewart, a patient in Bracebridge Hospital, who is recuperating and gaining strength in preparation for coming home. We are happy to report that Simone Gervais is home after spending some time in Bracebridge Hospital. And we wish the best to Don Little who entered Huntsville Hospital on Sunday afternoon.

There is still room in the Lapidary class that is being carried on by the Dorset Rock Hounds. Lapidary is a scientific art form which includes the atomic make-up of rocks and minerals, and the shaping and polishing of rocks and minerals into articles of beauty. This is a very interesting course that can evolve into a hobby or money making adventure. Anyone who is interested may call 766-2620 or 766-2237.

The Dorset Social Club started their evening meetings last week with a pot luck supper with an abundance of delicious food. There were 17 members present. There was a short business meeting followed by a social evening of cards, scrabble and shuffleboard.

Let's try to get a bus load to attend the races at Woodbine this year. The date is June 20 and the bus will leave Dorset at 8:30 a.m. The only cost involved is bus fare and food consumed. Entrance to the grandstand, program scratch sheet are compliments of the Jockey Club. This trip is open to all age groups so the more the merrier. The bus fare cannot be computed until there is a count of how many will be definitely going, but it is always minimal. There has to be a firm commitment and bus fares paid by Saturday, June 1. This enables the convenor to rent the bus for the occasion. Please call either 766-2605 or 766-2237 if you wish any further details.

H.H. For sparkling appliances and counter tops, use liquid Turtle wax (for cars) according to directions on the bottle. Your appliances will have a deep, hard shine for a long time and will just have to be wiped with a damp cloth

Bob Nimigon turned his hose on the photographer on Saturday to a little more fun to the proceedings at a car wash behind Arc Industries in Haliburton. Proceeds from the car wash were donated to the Association for the Mentally Retarded.

Harcourt area young people host Minden and Bancroft

By KEN SANDERSON

The saying that "Silence is Golden" applies in many situations but it is always good to have groups, organizations and churches report on activities.

Early in January as an annual event, Harcourt Community Chapel families gathered for a fellowship supper, followed by reports from each part of the ministry. Two highlights of the evening were a report on the Harcourt Chapel Christian School which commenced in September, 1984 and the presentation of awards to Nathan Hughes, David Hughes, Pam Andrews, Jeffrey and Andrew Way for perfect Sunday School attendance for the entire year.

The first Sunday in February was Youth night and the girls and boys club took the service with singing, skits that acted out parables and a very eye catching demonstration of magic by Wesley Hughes demonstrating bible truths.

In late February the chapel held the annual Skating Hour at the arena with 82 children and parents participating, followed by a snack and sing-song at the Ken Sanderson home when 67 people gathered.

During maple syrup time in March a bus load of 52 boys and girls, members and parents went to the Leslie Frost Centre in Dorset. After enjoying pancakes with maple syrup and sight-seeing, the crew arrived home tired but happy.

Also in March the girls club, ages 6 to 12, and the leaders attended Extendercare in Haliburton and did a fantastic job of entertaining the elderly. They were well received and invited back.

On April 14, the girls club and leaders attended the West Guilford Bible Chapel and assisted with the service.

The boys club and young peoples group have had some good outings and activities locally during the winter.

Last Friday evening a Koinonia celebration was sponsored by the Harcourt Chapel Young People, inviting the young peoples groups from Bancroft and Minden. A tremendous response was received, with some 80 attending for a chicken dinner, and youth programme. The chapel and visiting groups brought entertainment with songs and skits followed by a message given by David Fisher from Peterborough. Dave exercises an Epistle Sports Ministry to the Toronto Blue Jays and Montreal Expos. This proved to be a time of good fellowship and spiritual enrichment for the young people.
